

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE.

STATE OF NEW-YORK;
SENATE CHAMBER IN THE CITY OF ALBANY,
TUESDAY, JANUARY 1, 1850.

PURSUANT to the sixth section of the tenth article of the Constitution of the State of New-York, designating the first Tuesday of January in each year for the time of the meeting of the Legislature, the Hon. GEORGE W. PATTERSON, Lieut. Governor, and the following Senators from the several districts of the State, appeared in the Senate, to wit :

District number one,	William Horace Brown.
District number two,	John A. Cross.
District number three,	Richard S. Williams.
District number four,	Clarkson Crolius.
District number five,	James W. Beekman.
District number six,	Edwin D. Morgan.
District number eight,	John Snyder.
District number nine,	James C. Curtis.
District number ten,	Marius Schoonmaker.
District number eleven,	Stephen H. Johnson.
District number twelve,	Thomas B. Carroll.
District number thirteen,	James M. Cook.
District number fourteen,	Thomas Crook.
District number fifteen,	William A. Dart.
District number sixteen,	George H. Fox.
District number seventeen,	Sidney Tuttle.
District number eighteen,	John Noyes.
District number nineteen,	Charles A. Mann.
District number twenty,	Asahel C. Stone.
District number twenty-one,	Alanson Skinner.
District number twenty-two,	George Geddes.
District number twenty-three,	Levi Dimmick.
District number twenty-four,	William Beach.
District number twenty-five,	Henry B. Stanton.

District number twenty-nine,	Charles Colt.
District number thirty,	Charles D. Robinson.
District number thirty-one,	George R. Babcock.
District number thirty-two,	Robert Owen, Junior.

The Senators present having taken and subscribed the constitutional oath of office, the Senate proceeded to the election of clerk; and a ballot being had, Mr. Cook and Mr. Guinnip acting as tellers, upon the votes being counted, it appeared that William H. Bogart had received 17 votes, and Darius A. Ogden 14 votes.

William H. Bogart having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared duly elected to the office of clerk.

The Senate then proceeded to the election of a sergeant-at-arms, and a ballot being had, and the votes being counted, it appeared that George W. Bull had received 17 votes, and John D. Lawyer 14 votes.

George W. Bull having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared duly elected to the office of sergeant-at-arms.

The Senate then proceeded to the election of door keeper, and a ballot being had and the votes being counted, it appeared that Ransom Van Valkenburgh had received 17 votes, and Martin Miller 14 votes.

Ransom Van Valkenburgh having received a majority of all the votes, was declared duly elected to the office of door keeper.

The Senate then proceeded to the election of assistant door keeper, and a ballot being had and the votes counted, it appeared that George A. Loomis had received 16 votes, Hiram Allen 14 votes, and Ransom Van Valkenburgh 1 vote.

George A. Loomis having received a majority of all the votes, was declared duly elected assistant door keeper.

The officers elected being in attendance, were duly sworn, and subscribed the constitutional oath of office.

Mr. Geddes then offered for the consideration of the Senate the following concurrent resolutions, which by consent of the mover thereof were laid on the table, to wit:

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That as the Federal Constitution was formed and adopted expressly to secure the blessings of liberty to the people of the United States, and their posterity, our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed and our Representatives are requested to use their best efforts to procure the passage of laws that will effectually and forever put an end to the slave trade in the District of Columbia.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the determination indicated by the governors' messages, and the resolutions of the legislatures of various of the slave holding states, and by the Representatives of such states in Congress, to extend domestic slavery over the territory acquired by the late treaty of peace with the Republic of Mexico, we feel bound to oppose, by all constitutional means, and our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed and our Representatives are requested to resist all attempts to yield to slavery any part of such territory, however small, and by whatever pretence of compromise.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the territory lying between the Neuces and Rio Grande, and that part of New Mexico lying east of the Rio Grande, is the common property of the United States, and that our Senators in Congress be instructed and our Representatives requested to use their best efforts to preserve the same as such common property, and to protect it from the unfounded claims of the state of Texas, and prohibit the extension over it of the laws of Texas.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the Legislature of the State of New-York, has learned with great satisfaction, that the people of California have adopted a constitution which is entirely in accordance with the spirit of the free institutions of our country, and our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed, and our Representatives requested to aid in the passage of such laws as may be necessary to admit that state into the Union.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the Governor be requested to forward copies of the foregoing resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

On motion of Mr. Geddes,

Ordered, That the said resolutions be printed.

On motion of Mr. Cook,

The Senate then adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1850.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by the Rev. Dr. Wyckoff.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Ordered, That Mr. Cook and Mr. Stanton be appointed a committee to wait upon his excellency the Governor, and inform him that the Senate are convened and ready to proceed to business.

Ordered, That Mr. Geddes and Mr. Curtis be a committee to wait upon the Assembly with a like message.

On motion of Mr. Cross,

Resolved, That the Clerk be, and is hereby directed to invite the clergymen of this city having charge of congregations, to open the daily sittings of the Senate with prayer, in such order as may be most convenient for themselves.

On motion of Mr. Beekman,

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the joint library committee to be appointed under the resolution of April 21, 1840, shall consist of three member of the Senate and five members of the Assembly.

On motion of Mr. Morgan,

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Senate be requested to furnish the Lieut. Governor and each Senator with such newspapers as they may severally direct, the expense of which shall not exceed that of two daily papers.

On motion of Mr. Babcock,

Resolved, That when the Senate adjourns it will adjourn to meet daily at 11 o'clock A. M., and that it will continue to meet at that hour until otherwise ordered.

Mr. Cook, from the committee appointed for that purpose, reported that they had waited upon the Governor and delivered the message of the Senate, to which the Governor was pleased to say, that as soon as he should receive a message from the Assembly that they are organised, he would communicate to the Senate by message.

On motion of Mr. Cook,

Resolved, That the rules and orders of the Senate be referred to a select committee for revision, and that until the report of said committee be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of the last session shall be in force.

Ordered, That Messrs. Cook, Guinnip and Beekman, be such committee.

Mr. Geddes, from the committee appointed for that purpose, reported that they had waited upon the Assembly and informed them that the Senate were organised and ready to proceed the business.

On motion of Mr. Geddes,

Resolved, That there be appointed a standing committee of this Senate upon the manufacture of salt.

On motion of Mr. Cook, and by unanimous consent,

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the joint rules of the Senate and Assembly which were in force at the last session of the Legislature, be adopted for the government of the two houses.

On motion of Mr. Upham,

Ordered, That the Senate take a recess until 12 o'clock M.

The Senate having again convened,

A message was received from the Assembly, delivered by Mr. Godard and Mr. Pruyn, informing that the Assembly were organised and ready to proceed to business.

The President having announced the reception of said message, a message from the Governor, delivered by his private secretary, Robert H. Morris, was received, and read in the words following, to wit :

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and Assembly :

In a review of the condition of the State, during the year which has closed, while there are many causes of abundant thankfulness, it is not permitted to me to indulge in congratulations upon the continuance to us as a people, of the blessings of general public health. The sovereign Ruler of the universe, in His wisdom, has seen fit during the past season, to visit many portions of the State with a malignant disease, which has swept away thousands of our fellow-citizens. We have enjoyed too many of the blessings which a bountiful Providence has vouchsafed to us, not to submit with resignation to such dispensations as His wise purposes may bring upon us, and we may now, with reason, be thankful that the scourge has ceased to exist within our State. The progress and the ravages of this mysterious disease, suggest the necessity of the exercise of your duties, as the guardians of the public health, to interpose, so far as human agency may avail, whatever legislative enactments may be efficient to guard against the re-appearance of this pestilence, to investigate its history, and its nature, and in the event of its return, to mitigate its severity.

Upon the outbreak of the Asiatic Cholera within our State, in pursuance of the authority conferred by an act of the Legislature, passed at the last session, I issued a proclamation on the fifth day of June last, reviving and continuing in force for one year from that date, the "Act for the preservation of the public health," passed June 22, 1832. Under this act, boards of health were organized in various parts, if not throughout the State, and the sanative and precautionary powers conferred by the act have been found efficacious in removing many of those causes which have been supposed to attract and to fix this disease, whose nature and whose course have been so subtle, so mysterious, and so erratic as to baffle the investigations of science.

It is now nearly eighteen years since it made its first appearance on this continent. Within that period it has three times overspread the whole breadth of the land, and while it has claimed its thousands upon thousands of victims, much remains to be learned of its nature, its origin, its course, and its proper treatment. The devotion of medical men to the cause of humanity, and their frequent gratuitous attention, and constant self-sacrificing privations for the alleviation of human suffering, preclude the idea that the continued absence of accurate and of acknowledged information, is the result of any want of skill or of attention on their part. It proceeds rather from the want of an accurate combination of reliable facts, within the experience of the individual members of the medical profession.

No subject more universally affects all classes, and all members of the community, than that of the public health. I therefore earnestly request your attention to the existing laws on this subject, and suggest the propriety of their careful review and amendment, especially with a view to secure the benefit of the combined experience of scientific and learned men, throughout the State, with respect to the origin, the causes, the progress and the treatment of all malignant or infectious diseases.

It will also become important to consider the powers granted to the municipal and local authorities for the prevention and removal of nuisances, and for the prohibition of offensive and deleterious occupations, within thickly inhabited districts. These powers require enlargement, and should be conferred permanently. It is by no means improbable that the epidemic which has lately visited us may return. In this event, these powers may be essential to mitigate the severity of the visitation. I have been informed that the act of the last session authorizing the revival of the act of 1832, has been judicially declared to be unconstitutional. This decision may render necessary a confirmation of the various important sanative regulations enforced in different parts of the State, as well as a new grant of power, under which they may be exercised, without the objection which is understood to have been made to the form in which the act of the last winter proposed to confer them.

It may also be well to consider whether the time has not arrived, when the State is called upon to contribute its aid more efficiently than it has hitherto done, to advance the cause of Medical Education. Every inhabitant of the State, at some time or other, feels the need of the physician, and is interested that he should be learned and skilful.

The reports of the Comptroller, and of the Commissioners of the Canal Fund, will be shortly laid before you, and will present in detail a statement of the financial condition of the State, and will exhibit most gratifying evidences of the public confidence in the credit of the State, and in the management of its financial concerns. I refer you to these reports for details and for particular statements.

At the close of the fiscal year, ending on 30th of

September last, the General Fund debt amounted to,.....	$6,389,693 32
The canal debt,.....	16,006,345 67

Total "direct" debt,.....	$22,896,038 99
---------------------------	-----------------

Toward the payment of which debt there was on hand,—

A surplus of the General Fund Debt Sinking Fund of,.	$13,515 16
A surplus of the Canal Fund Debt Sinking Fund of,...	200,877 01

Included in the amount of canal debt above stated is the sum of $90,822, which was payable prior to the close of the fiscal year, but had not then been presented for redemption. The interest on this had ceased from the time when it became payable; the funds for its redemption being on hand awaiting the call of the holders of the stock. Since the close of the fiscal year, $77,917 of this amount have been redeemed.

The revenue of the General Fund, exclusive of the annual appropriation of $200,000, from the surplus canal revenues, made by the Constitution, and including a temporary loan to the treasury of $15,000, was,		$792,451 69
The canal revenues were,		3,442,906 62
Aggregate revenue,		$4,235,358 31

The payments on account of the General Fund during the year, amounted to $842,228.49, leaving a surplus of the revenue on hand, on 30th September, of $113,279.22.

The payments out of the canal revenues were:

1. Expenses of collection, superintendence and ordinary repairs,	$685,803 91
2. Appropriations made by article 7 of the Constitution, toward the Sinking Funds, and to defray the necessary expenses of the government,	1,850,000 00
Total payment,	$2,535,803 91

This amount of payments deducted from the canal revenues of the year, leaves the sum of $907,102.71 applicable to the completion of the Erie canal enlargement, the Genesee Valley and Black River canals.

Notwithstanding the prevalence, during nearly the whole of the past season, of an epidemic disease, which greatly interrupted all commercial business, and diminished the amount of transportation on the canals, the receipts from tolls, &c., during the past year show an increase of nearly $225,000 over the receipts from the same source during the preceding year; while the fact that the canals were in excellent condition, and that the expenses of collection, superintendence and ordinary repairs are nearly $170,000 less than during the preceding year, is strong evidence of the economy, skill, and good management which have been infused into this department of the public service, under the direction of the Commissioners in charge during the year.

The General Fund debt exceeds the amount stated last year, by the sum of $400,000. $385,000 of this amount constitute the sum directed by chapter 225 of the laws of the last session, to be paid to the use of the Canal Fund, to repay the principal and interest of the amount stated to have been paid from the Canal Fund to the General Fund after the 1st of June, 1846, beyond the amount limited by the Constitution. The object of the act authorizing this re-payment, was to effect an adjustment between the two funds, in order to conform their respective actual amounts to the amendments which the Constitution made to the previously existing laws, and which amendments related back to the 1st June, 1846, although not adopted until some months subsequently. The remaining $15,000 of the above sum, were borrowed in pursuance of chapter 188 of the laws of 1849, for the building of the State Arsenal, and is to be reimbursed from the avails of the sale of the land in the city of New-York heretofore occupied for the arsenal.

The annual interest on the General Fund debt, now amounts to $354,829.86, while the annual amount set apart by the Constitution from the surplus revenue of the canals, as a Sinking Fund to be applied to the payment of the interest and principal of this debt, is but $350,000; showing a deficiency to meet the interest in each year from this appropriation of $4,829.86, which must be paid out of the revenues of the fund; throwing another burthen upon the fund, and presenting a strong admonition for the necessity of economy and discretion in the amounts and objects of legislative appropriations. With prudence in this respect, the revenues of the fund it is thought will be fully adequate to meet the current and legitimate drafts upon them.

Of the canal debt, $3,140,819.34 will become due prior to January, 1856. The avails of the canal debt Sinking Fund will be sufficient to meet this amount, as the surplus for the years 1851 and 1852 can be arranged to meet the loans falling due in 1851, and no further loan on the credit of the fund will be required to meet the stocks now outstanding until the 1st January, 1856, when $4,000,000 will become due.

On the 1st of July last, $2,149,000 of the canal debt fell due; all of which, with the exception of $87,000, bore interest at seven per cent. The appropriations made by the Constitution from the surplus revenues of the canals to the Sinking Fund, not being sufficient to retire the canal debt as fast as it falls due, the 5th section of the 7th article of the Constitution, authorizes loans upon the credit of the Sinking Fund for this purpose. In pursuance of this authority, and under chapter 216 of the laws of 1848, $1,739,024.76 were borrowed in June last, redeemable in July, 1865. A loan has also been effected during the year, under the 10th section, of article 7, of the Constitution, and in pursuance of chapter 228 of the laws of 1849, to the amount of $50,000 for extraordinary canal repairs. And a further loan has also been negotiated, on the credit of the Sinking Fund, under chapter 232, of the laws of 1849, for the purpose of discharging the claims against the State, for damages and awards due prior to 1st June, 1846; which, although not then liquidated, constituted a part of the canal debt at that date, for the payment of which, the 1st section of article 7 of the Constitution, creates the Sinking Fund.

These several loans bear interest at six per cent, and it may be remarked with just pride and satisfaction, in contemplating the high credit of the State, that these loans, running for fifteen and sixteen years, respectively, have yielded an average premium of $11\frac{7}{8}\%$ per cent.

A law passed last winter authorized the borrowing of a sum of money to repay to the city of Albany, certain expenses incurred for excavating and cleaning out the basin, opposite to that city, at the termination of the Erie and Champlain canals. The necessity for borrowing this money, will be obviated, if the Legislature shall think proper to direct the application to the repayment contemplated by the act referred to, of the premiums received on the loan of $1,739,024.76 effected last summer, which amount to $207,954.56.

The enlargement of the Erie canal, and the completion of Black River and Genesee Valley canals, are progressing as rapidly as consists with the limited appropriations for those objects under the Constitution. In the spring of 1860, 122 $\frac{2}{3}$ miles of the enlarged Erie canal, and 415 enlarged structures will be in use; being an addition of 13 miles, and of 47 structures during the year.

Of the Black River canal, 34 miles are finished, and ready for navigation and will be open for use with the other canals next spring.

Of the Genesee Valley canal, 36 miles beyond its present termination are in such state of forwardness, that they can be brought into use in the course of the next season.

The appropriation made by the last Legislature for improving the upper waters of the Hudson river, has been judiciously applied, and will have the effect of opening new tributaries of revenue to the Champlain canal, as well as new channels of approach to a large and hitherto secluded region, rich in the products of the mines and the forest, and which, until recently, had received but little if any aid from the State toward the development of its resources.

The condition, on 30th September last, of the three funds whose revenues are applied to purposes of education, was as follows :—

	Capital.	Revenue.	Payments.
Com. School Fund,...	$2,243,563 36	$284,903 76	$244,407 14
Literature Fund,....	265,966 78	42,089 96	43,436 64
U. S. Deposit Fund,.	4,014,520 71	256,934 93	264,602 58

The adoption by the people at the last annual election, of the act to establish free schools throughout the State, will effect a most important change in the system of common school education. Under this law, the common schools are to be free to all persons over five and under twenty-one years of age. On the first day of July last, there were 11,191 organized school districts in the State; being an increase of 570 over the number reported last year; and the number of children taught in the common schools during the year, was 778,309, being an increase of 2,586 over the preceding year. There are 1893 unincorporated and private schools in the State, comprising 72,785 pupils. The aggregate amount of public money received by the several common school districts, from all sources, during the year, was $846,710.45. Of this sum, $626,456.69 have been apportioned for the payment of teachers' wages. In addition to which, $489,696.63 were raised in the several districts on rate bills for the same object, making an aggregate of $1,143,401.16 expended for teachers' wages during the year ending 1st January, 1849.

The whole number of volumes in the district libraries, is 1,409,154; 70,306 volumes having been purchased during the year, and $93,- 104.82 having been expended for district libraries and school apparatus.

Of the schools before mentioned, 35 are for colored children, in which upwards of 4000 children have been taught, at an aggregate expense of $5,016.57; of which $2,149.60 were contributed on rate bills by those sending the children to school. Considering the usually very limited means of our colored population, this large proportionate contribution voluntarily paid by them, shows a most commendable desire, on their part, to secure to their children the benefits of education.

The Report of the Superintendent of Common Schools, will probably suggest some amendments to be made to the existing laws. I trust that they will be such as will commend themselves to your favorable consideration.

The Normal School was removed, on the 31st of July last, to the large and commodious edifice which the State has recently erected for its use, at a cost of $25,000. The benefits resulting from this institution, are fully justifying the warmest anticipations of its friends, and are making themselves manifest in the improvement already effected among the teachers of Common Schools. The whole number of pupils admitted to the institution since its organization, has been 1129; of whom 428 have graduated, nearly all of whom are now engaged in the duties of common school teachers. The present number of pupils is 217.

A proposition will, as I am informed, be made to you to authorize the instruction at this school of a limited number of Indians, in the hope, by this means, of introducing a higher order of education and of civilization among the small remnants of the Aboriginal race which are left within our borders. I solicit for this proposition your attentive and favorable consideration, as a measure not only prompted by the dictates of humanity and benevolence, but demanded alike by considerations of high policy, and upon principles of justice toward a class of our population, who, from having once been the lords of our soil, and the founders of a beautifully simple and essentially republican government, have gradually wasted before the advances of the white race, and have dwindled in energy and in numbers, and have sunk into a state of tutelage which demands the fostering care of the Government.

In pursuance of a concurrent resolution of the Legislature, passed on the 6th of April last, I appointed a board of commissioners to mature a plan for the establishment of an Agricultural College and Experimental Farm, and to prepare a statement of the probable expense of such an institution, and a detailed account of the course of studies and plan of operations recommended.

The board entered zealously into the views of the Legislature, and has gratuitously devoted much time and labor to advance the important object contemplated in the passage of the resolution. I submit herewith their report. It is eloquent, and powerfully argues in behalf of the advancement of agricultural science. It is not improbable that differences of opinion will exist with regard to the details, and to the extent and variety of the branches of knowledge which it is proposed to embrace within the course of instruction. But I most earnestly hope that no such differences, and that no other cause, may prevent the establishment and the endowment, upon a wise and comprehensive system, of an institution so beneficent in its design, and so promising of enduring and beneficial results, as a school for instruction in practical and scientific agriculture, and in the mechanic arts. There is a growing interest on the part of the people in the advancement of agricultural science. The Fair of the State Society, held at Syracuse, in September last, was attended by a larger number of persons than had ever before been assembled on a similar occasion in this State. And the exhibition of the various implements and products afforded a gratifying evidence of the success of this society, in the advancement of the great objects which it aims to accomplish.

The nature of the circulation issued by banks, as the representative of the precious metals, often forces it upon those who are incapable of exercising a discrimination as to its value, or whose necessities compel them to forego that exercise. Our laws have, therefore, provided safeguards for its integrity and its redemption; and the paper currency of our state may be regarded as healthy and sound. Some further legislation is deemed advisable for the prevention of abuse in the organization under the General Law, of institutions, designed rather to profit from the mere issue of notes, than to furnish banking facilities to the business community. The time will soon arrive when it will become necessary to consider whether the securities required by existing laws, to be hypothecated for the redemption of the circulating bank notes, will be sufficient in amount to furnish a basis for the circulation that will be required to be issued upon that pledge, when the charters of the several incorporated banks shall expire, and they shall be brought under the provisions of the General Law. The operation of the Sinking Funds is gradually but certainly withdrawing our State Stocks, and will eventually render necessary the substitution of some other securities. The Report of the Comptroller will present some important suggestions with reference to these matters, to which I solicit your careful attention.

The large influx of the precious metals, which is pouring in from the Pacific regions, is adding rapidly to the amount of coin in circulation, and furnishes another and a pressing reason for a demand from this State upon the General Government, for the establishment of a Branch Mint, or for the removal of the principal Mint to our great sea port, which is the point of arrival of nearly all the gold introduced from California. It is earnestly hoped that Congress will no longer delay an act so imperatively demanded by the interests of the country.

In my Annual Message to the Legislature last year, I presented to their consideration several subjects, in my opinion, worthy of their attention, accompanied with such remarks as were deemed appropriate. I will not detain you by a repetition of what was then said; nor will I enlarge upon the reasons which induced me to present them to the notice of your predecessors. I shall merely allude to the subjects, and take the liberty to refer you to the views with respect to them, which I submitted to the Legislature, and to renew the recommendations then made. These subjects were—

The restoration of the office of County Superintendent of Common Schools.

A revision and alteration of the laws under which taxes and assessments for local improvements are imposed and their payment enforced.

An amendment to the laws so as to ensure a more general and equal taxation of personal property.

A reduction of the compensation authorized by law to be received by the Health officer of the city of New-York.

The establishment of Tribunals of Conciliation, in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution.

A modification of the criminal code, so as to abridge, in proper cases, the terms of imprisonment; to reduce the minimum of sentence to the State Prison to one year; and to increase the limit prescribed by law for the division between grand and petit larceny.

The benefits of the provisions of the act in relation to pardons, passed at the last session of the Legislature, have been manifest. In several cases, the publication has induced information with respect to the prisoner, which would probably never have been brought to the knowledge of the Executive, had the pendency of the application not been made known to the public; and there is reason to believe, that many applications have been withheld under the certainty that the advertisement would attract attention and ensure opposition.

The number of persons pardoned during the year, from the State prisons, has been 27; and from the local prisons, 7. I communicate herewith the statement required by the Constitution, of the pardons granted during the year.

In the month of August last, I received a certificate from the Commissioners for the erection of the Western House of Refuge for Juvenile delinquents, that the house was in readiness for the reception of persons committed thereto; and in pursuance of the 15th section of the act authorizing the establishment, I made an order designating the counties which should thereafter send juvenile delinquents to this house. It has now thirty-one inmates. The building, as now completed, affords accommodation for about one hundred delinquents, and for the officers and persons employed in the establishment. A plan of building was adopted, such as to be perfect as now finished, and yet admitting the erection of three more wings of equal capacity with that now completed, without marring the proportion of the whole. Each of these wings will accommodate about a hundred inmates. It will be seen from the rapidity with which the house is filling up, that its capacity will soon be exhausted, and another wing will be required, the cost of which, it is represented, will be from ten to twelve thousand dollars.

During the past summer, the male department of the House of Refuge in the city of New-York had become so crowded, that its managers issued a notice that no more boys could be received at present.

The whole number of children received in this house from its establishment to December 12, 1849, was 4,690. At this latter date, there were 334 children in the house. Without more extensive accommodations, this number is larger than is consistent with the proper classification of the children, for the separation of those less hardened in crime from the influence of the more depraved. Such classification is necessary to the object of the institution, which is the reformation rather than the punishment of those youthful delinquents, who may have been drawn thoughtlessly into the commission of crime, from which parental influence or good advice kindly administered, might have restrained them.

Should the Legislature determine to enlarge the Western House of Refuge, it will be advisable to authorize the transfer to that establishment, from the one in New-York, of those inmates now in the latter, who may have been sent thither from the counties which are now designated to send delinquents to the former.

The number of prisoners in confinement in the several prisons of the State, on the 1st December, 1849, was 1,483, being an increase of 174 over the number on the corresponding day of the previous year.

The earnings and expenditures of the several prisons during the fiscal year ending 30th September last, together with the daily average number of prisoners in each, were as follows :

	Earnings.	Expenditures.	Daily average of prisoners.
Auburn Prison, ...	$67,613 79	$56,777 99	535
Sing Sing " ...	66,379 84	68,793 64	{ 641½ males. 81 females.
Clinton " ...	10,976 22	50,126 47	143½

A large proportion of the expenditure of the Clinton County Prison, is stated to have been for extraordinary objects, not constituting a part of the regular expenses of the prison. The officers of the prison return these at $22,479.52. The deduction still leaves an excess of expenditure over the earnings of this prison, of $16,670.73, and it may be questioned whether some of the expenditures which are classed as extraordinary, will not be found to be frequently recurring.

The annual Report of the Inspectors will present the condition of the prisons more in detail, and I respectfully refer you to it.

The financial condition of the State Lunatic Asylum, is represented to be prosperous. The receipts from the board of patients have been adequate to defray all the ordinary expenses for the year. From the opening of this institution, 2,376 patients have been admitted ; 1,017 of whom have left the asylum cured.

This institution was under the superintendence of Dr. Amariah Brigham from its first opening, in January, 1843, until his labors were arrested by death, in September last. In the death of this devoted and philanthropic man of science, the cause of humanity has sustained a serious loss. The large number of recoveries effected under his management, is an eloquent testimonial to his skilful and devoted attention to the trust confided to his charge.

The several institutions encouraged and sustained in a large degree by the State, for the education of the Blind and of the Deaf and Dumb, and the New-York Hospital, are prospering, and are efficiently carrying out the benevolent objects contemplated by their establishment.

The present condition of these several charities will be more fully shown by their respective reports, which will soon be presented to you, and will furnish a gratifying exhibition of the fidelity with which the trust committed to their several boards of directors has been discharged, and an inducement to continue the aid which the State has heretofore extended to these charitable objects. The amount of payment to these institutions last year exceeded $111,000; but as that sum included payments for buildings and permanent objects, it is hoped that the claims for the future will be much reduced.

The liberality of the State in its endowments of various charities which have been cherished by its munificence for the support and maintenance and for the education or relief of those who are not blessed with God's choicest gifts of the reasoning and perceptive faculties, has been rewarded with a measure of success in the several objects to which it has been directed, which encourages the inquiry, whether there be not yet a class of unfortunates who labor under a dispensation that imposes upon the State the duty of undertaking their physical, intellectual and moral improvement, and the advancement of their comfort, and of their means of usefulness and of enjoyment.

The census of 1845 shows a return of 1620 Idiots within the State, and there are reasons for the belief that this number is far short of the reality.

The success which has attended the efforts made of late years to resuscitate the mind of the Idiot, and to elevate him in the scale of human beings, has demonstrated, at least with sufficient certainty to call for the active aid of the State, that these unfortunate creatures, the most afflicted as a class of all whom the heavy dispensation of a wise Providence has visited, are susceptible within definite limits, of mental and physical development and improvement.

The State has already recognized the obligations resting upon it, to provide for the education of its children, and has made liberal provision for the education of those deprived of the organs of sight, and of hearing and speech, as well as for the improvement and reclamation of the lunatic. The efforts of the Legislature should not be intermitted, until they have secured to all classes and conditions such an education as they may be capable of receiving, and may qualify them for the duties pertaining to their respective pursuits and condition in life.

The number of Idiots exceeds that of either the Blind or the Deaf and Dumb. While the State has made liberal provision for the care and education of the latter, it has done nothing for the improvement of the Idiot. The parents and the friends of the many hundred Idiots in the State, seek in vain a refuge, or a school, where their afflicted children or friends may be protected or made useful. The reason is doubtless to be found in the strong impression which has prevailed, that nothing could be done for the improvement of the Idiot. This impression must, however, now be confined to those who are not willing to receive the evidence of what has been successfully accomplished. He has been taught to articulate, and to talk distinctly, and to bring his passions and appetites into subjection; he has been instructed and made to read, to write, and to sing, and to exercise mechanical labor and skill in various trades. These results induce me to recommend the establishment, by the Legislature, of an Asylum and School for Idiots, on such scale and terms of endowment as your wisdom shall deem best.

The operation of the laws of the last session on the subject of Alien Passengers, has been highly satisfactory. It is believed that the objections to the former passenger laws, on which they were decided by the Supreme Court of the United States to be repugnant to the Federal Constitution, have now been obviated; whilst the original object of that legislation, the relief and support of diseased or destitute emigrants, have been completely attained. The experience of the year has pointed out some imperfections in the details of the act, which do not affect its general principle or leading provisions, but which demand legislative correction. These will probably be pointed out by the Commissioners in their report. The change of the system at the Quarantine, separating the charge of the Marine Hospital from the other duties of the Health Officer, has resulted in a much improved efficiency, economy, and order in the Quarantine establishment. The magnitude of the business devolved upon the Commissioners under these laws, may be conceived from the statement, that 213,552 alien passengers arrived at the port of New-York during eleven months, from 1st January to 1st December, 1849; of whom 2,894 were forwarded by the Commissioners to distant places, where they could meet employment; 7,000 were received into the hospitals at Ward's and Bedlow's Islands, and 3,162 into the Marine Hospital. The average weekly number of patients in the former hospitals exceeded 1,392, and in the latter, 455. Temporary relief was afforded to 16,200 emigrants; and the sum of $43,023.77 was paid to the several counties of the State, to reimburse them for expenses incurred in the relief afforded by them to emigrant poor. This amount does not include the expenses of such counties for any part of December, nor the whole amount for November.

The laws for the protection of emigrants from the imposition to which they are specially subject, immediately on their arrival, have been attended with excellent results, in defending or assisting the helpless and the stranger, who have sought a refuge on our shores. Still, these laws are not perfect—they need further examination and improvement; for which object I earnestly commend them to your consideration.

It will become part of your duty to consider the necessity which seems to exist of providing more ample, if not more adequate, accommodations for the State Library. When the care of the Library was committed to the Regents of the University in May, 1844, the number of volumes was computed to be about 10,000. In the Catalogue now printing, the Law Books alone exceed 9,700, and the aggregate number of volumes is about 25,000. It is evident that the rooms now used are not capable of meeting this rapid increase which is still progressing. Every part of them is now filled, and it has become difficult to find, or take down many, while hundreds of volumes are locked up in various repositories, for want of sufficient accommodation in the Library rooms. In addition to this, the State has a very valuable and interesting collection of Maps, and will shortly receive many more, illustrative of the progress and history of our country. These should be easy of examination and reference. We have, too, the valuable and extensive collection of engravings presented by the Pope, which should be exhibited on the walls of the Library.

Uniting all these considerations, and adding to them the comparatively unsafe condition of the present rooms, in reference to the danger from fire, to which I referred more particularly in a communication to the Legislature last winter, I feel it incumbent upon me to recommend an appropriation for additional, if not other apartments for the use of the Library.

In connection with this subject, it may be remarked that the building now partly occupied by the State Cabinet of Natural History, is totally unfitted for such a purpose. The rooms are arched, and a quantity of space is lost which is much needed for the exhibition of the valuable and extensive collection of specimens which the State has brought together to illustrate its Natural History. And the trustees are completely stopped in their plans for increase, by the absolute want of room in which to place the very interesting Indian and Natural History collections which are crowding upon them. The State Agricultural Society, from the extension of its collections, needs all the lower rooms of this building.

Should you deem it advisable to authorise the construction of any additional building, it appears very desirable that such erection should be made for the accommodation of both the Library and Cabinet of Natural History, as will meet their wants for some years to come, and by giving to the agricultural society the use of the rooms now occupied by the cabinet, increase the accommodation and the means of usefulness of this valuable association.

I desire to bring to your notice the fact, that we have no complete collection of the colonial laws of New-York in print. The originals of these laws are in the Secretary of State's office. I cannot doubt that a competent commission could be instituted to superintend such a publication, without any pecuniary compensation. The only expense, exclusive of that of printing, would be a moderate salary for a secretary to do the necessary clerical work, and to arrange the laws in chronological order.

A law passed last winter, appointed three Commissioners of the Code to perform the duties specified in the 17th section of article I. of the Constitution, and authorised the Governor to fill any vacancy which might occur during the recess of the Legislature. Two of these Commissioners have resigned. The resignation of Mr. Spencer was on the 25th of June last; that of Mr. Worden took effect on the 1st day of November. Under the power conferred by the law, I have endeavored to fill the vacancies in a manner calculated to ensure the object contemplated by the act and by the Constitution, and have offered the appointments to a number of the most eminent jurists of the state. The vacancies, however, still exist. As they occurred during the recess of the Legislature, the power to fill them under the act is probably with the Governor. But as I have not succeeded in the exercise of the power, before the Legislature has convened, and as, in my opinion, an alteration of the law organising the Commission is essential to its practical success, I respectfully refer the matter to your consideration, and shall abstain from any efforts to fill the Commission during your sittings, or until there shall be an expression of your opinion on the subject.

The principal difficulty in filling the existing vacancies, arises from the inadequacy of the compensation allowed, and the limitation of time compared with the magnitude of the labor to be accomplished. The restriction of time imposed by the existing law, is fatal to the accomplishment of the work. The undertaking "to reduce into a written and systematic code the whole body of the law of this state," is too vast to be accomplished under the pendency of such a pressure, or to be completed by the labors of three men within two years. I therefore recommend an increase of the compensation of the Commissioners, and an extension of the time limited for their continuance in office.

It is a subject of not unfrequent complaint, that the due administration of public justice is often impeded in consequence of the present mode of empannelling jurors in criminal cases, and of the exercise of the right of challenge by the traverser, and by the manner of conducting the trial and defence.

Trials attended with any notoriety, are apt to involve great consumption of time in the scrutiny of the jury. Weeks have been consumed in this effort in a single cause; and I am informed by one of the Justices of the Supreme Court, that in a trial before him, upwards of four thousand persons were examined in a fruitless endeavor to empanel a jury. I understand that the Commissioners to revise the rules and practice of the courts, will submit to your consideration a proposition intended to obviate the difficulty which has been experienced in this particular. Not having had the opportunity to examine the alterations which they propose, I cannot express an opinion upon their suggestion; but the subject is one of importance, and will, I hope, engage your early attention.

The experience of those familiar with the proceedings in the criminal courts, has suggested the propriety of allowing to the prosecution a limited number of peremptory challenges. I am convinced that the ends of justice would thereby be advanced.

The allowance of bills of exceptions, is believed to be a principal cause of the delays and protracted trials in criminal cases, and of the occasional failure of justice. Prior to the adoption of the Revised Statutes, criminal trials were reviewed by the courts reserving the point in dispute for the consideration of the Supreme Court on a case made; when, if the point did not affect the merits, the court was at liberty to disregard it. Upon bills of exception, however, the whole case is not sent up, but only enough for a proper understanding of the single point raised; and if the ruling on that point be erroneous, however immaterial it may be to the main question of guilt or innocence, a new trial must be granted. The effect is, that the judge on the trial, unwilling to embarrass the case by exceptions, or to give the accused the chance to avoid the consequences of a verdict of guilty by exceptions on points really immaterial, is tempted to relax the rules of evidence, and to let in almost any testimony which may be offered.

A serious defect exists either in our statutes relating to summary convictions upon the charge of vagrancy, or in the practice under those statutes. These proceedings involve a wide departure from the principle which pervades our whole jurisprudence, and which secures to every person accused of an offence a trial by jury; they are, therefore, justly regarded with jealousy, and should be restrained by stringent rules for the protection of personal liberty.

While public policy undoubtedly indicates the necessity of placing under restraint and discipline those who lead an idle life, without employment, and without the visible means of support, it also indicates, with equal certainty, the distinction which should be observed between them and the willfully corrupt. A distinction is recognised by our statutes between different individuals, whom it classes under the general name of "vagrants;" some are recognised as proper objects for the poor house, while others are to be committed to the common jail. But in practice, it is believed that nearly all the commitments for vagrancy are to the county prisons; thus merging the distinction (so essential to justice and to the moral elevation and reformation of the vagrant, as well as to the effective punishment of the criminal,) between poverty and crime; and commingling, in a common disgrace and punishment, those whose chief fault is destitution or perhaps disease, with those who have been convicted of a willful transgression of the law.

I have been led to these remarks by an investigation made during the past year, and embodied in the presentment of a grand jury, in which it is represented that of seven hundred and forty-six persons at that time confined in the Penitentiary of the city of New-York, upon the charge of vagrancy, whose commitments had been examined, two hundred and twenty were confined "for matters which do not constitute vagrancy under any description of it," as defined by our statutes, but "because the offence charged is poverty, sickness, or destitution," while of the whole number of seven hundred and forty-six, only three were lawfully imprisoned. Such a fact calls imperatively for an examination of the statutes under which such transactions have occurred.

While it is admittedly a primary duty of the Legislature to enact laws for the punishment of vice, it is no less its duty to remove the causes which frequently lead to the commission of crime. The impressions made upon the youthful mind by the gentle force of parental authority and example, and by the associations of the family circle, are among the most active and enduring of the influences which control the conduct of after life. Much of the vice that we are called upon to deplore, may be traced to the early removal of its subject from the reach of that authority and example, and from the innocent but wholesome associations of a home, however humble. The cause of morality, no less than the dictates of humanity, demand the preservation of the family circle, and the maintenance of the family home, as efficient preventives of vice, and sure and permanent contributors to individual virtue and happiness, and to public prosperity and order.

In this view it becomes us to consider whether the causes by which this wholesome influence is often broken up, may not be removed or lessened.

Doubtless the most frequent cause of dismemberment of families is found in the pecuniary inability of the parent to maintain his household establishment.

The humane and wise policy of the State, many years since, provided an exemption from execution for debt, of sundry articles in favor of persons being householders. The list of articles thus exempted has at various times been enlarged—at all times in favor of persons being householders, and so as to embrace articles essential to the maintenance of the household establishment, and to prevent the dismemberment of families. And yet the wise policy of the law often fails of its object, and the household is dispersed for want of an abode, wherein the pleasures of an undivided family may alone be left to sweeten the hours of adversity, and to cheer and stimulate its members in their efforts to repair their misfortunes while they retain their virtue.

It is this consideration which induces me to suggest a further extension of the present exemption, so as to exempt from sale upon execution, the premises occupied as a Homestead, to a limited value.

The most exact observance of the rights of property, and of the inviolability of contracts, should characterize all legislation in a civilized government. An essential feature, therefore, of any law for this purpose, should be its careful and scrupulous avoidance of the violation of any existing rights. The exemption should not extend to contracts made before the enactment of the law, but should be prospective in its operation, and the homestead should not be exempt from a debt incurred for its purchase.

I submit these as among the guards which should attend the exemption; relying, however, upon the wisdom of the Legislature, should it think proper to consider the subject, to suggest and mature such provisions as will carefully protect the rights of the creditor, and guard against the commission of fraud, while they may effect much in the cause of humanity toward the prevention of crime, the relief of poverty, and the support and education of the young and the helpless.

The policy of our government and of our institutions is wisely adverse to large standing armies. Our reliance is therefore upon the militia organized and armed in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Constitution, and the laws of Congress in pursuance thereof. The condition of this force within our State is highly satisfactory. Prior to the enactment of the law of 1847, for the reorganization of the militia, the system had become obnoxious to large numbers in the community, and the militia service was regarded with disfavor, except, in the various uniformed corps, which did not exist to any great extent out of the cities and the large towns: and the trainings of the militia came to be regarded as an uselessly onerous burthen to the people.

The object of the militia laws of 1847 and '48, was to provide a thorough enrolment of all persons in the State liable to military duty—to offer larger inducements and thereby to increase the number of uniformed companies—to advance their efficiency, and at the same time to lessen the expense both in time and money to which the members were subject, and to relieve the mass of the citizens from the burthens of the previous law.

The organization under these new laws progresses but slowly. Like every new system, this has its defects, which were not foreseen at the time of its enactment, but which it is hoped can be remedied by the Legislature, as they are developed in practice. Some of these defects will be pointed out, and the remedy will be suggested, in the report of the Adjutant General, to which I solicit your early attention.

It is estimated that there are near 300,000 persons in the State liable to military duty, and yet the number enrolled the present year is returned at only 87,595. These returns are very imperfect. They embrace but about one-third of the State. It is particularly important that you direct your attention to such an amendment of the laws as will ensure full and accurate returns, and an early organization of the entire body of the militia.

Notwithstanding the delays and difficulties which have embarrassed a new system, 233 uniform companies have been organized under the late acts, in addition to others previously in existence—thus presenting a strong, efficient and reliable force, constantly increasing, ready and willing to sustain the laws of the State, and to fulfil the duties imposed upon them by the Constitution of the United States.

The report of the Commissary General will present to you the condition of the State property entrusted to the care of this officer. The laws relating to this department require a thorough revision. I am induced to believe that some alterations will be suggested in the report of the Commissary General, to which I beg leave to call your attention.

Few subjects affect more intimately the interests and convenience of the people, than the means of safe, speedy, and widely extended social and commercial communication. There are now in operation within the State, twenty-five railroad companies, and upwards of eleven hundred miles of road, upon which daily vast numbers of human beings are carried. In judging of the future, it would be difficult to form an adequate conception of the immense stream of travel and commerce which will flow over these great highways, at no distant day, when they shall have penetrated the yet sequestered regions of the State, and when the trade of the great West, still in its infancy, shall have reached its full growth and magnitude. It is the duty of a wise government to encourage enterprises which tend, like our railways, to approximate distant parts of the State, to destroy sectional interests, to explore and bring into social and commercial relations districts hitherto almost inaccessible, and to increase largely the sale of agricultural products, by bringing the best market near to the door of the producer. So, on the other hand, the great and rapid extension of the railway system calls for such judicious legislative regulations as will more adequately secure the protection of life, and the largest degree of safety, coupled with comfort, and the requisite rate of speed.

The frequency of accidents and collisions naturally leads to enquiry into the causes, and the proper remedy to be applied to the prevention of so great an evil. It cannot be doubted that a large proportion of these accidents arises from the use of a single track, by cars running in opposite directions. The subject is eminently worthy of legislative attention, with a view to afford every just facility for the construction of railroads, and at the same time to enforce prudent regulations for the security of human life.

While the power of the Legislature to authorise, by a general law, the taking of private property for public use, in other cases than where the constitution sanctions a delegation of local legislative authority to the boards of supervisors, may well be questioned, there exist strong reasons why the exercise of so important a branch of sovereign prerogative should not be surrendered, in this way, to private associations without great caution. Provision has, however, already been made by law, for the exercise of the right to decide the public utility of highways, turnpikes and plank roads, by the local authorities of the counties within or through which such improvements are designed, and under proper restrictions it might be sound policy to extend the benefit of similar provisions to the construction of railroads. Beside the plain and strict compliance with the provisions of the constitution which such a system would present, in connection with the general law authorising companies to incorporate themselves, it would take from these corporations every ingredient of exclusive privilege, and would relieve the Legislature from the weight and burthen of a large amount of duty entailed upon it under the present system, and would prevent, in a great degree, the interference of speculating enterprises, or of measures prompted by the anticipation of gain, with the consideration and the decision of other questions of public importance.

It is with no slight degree of pain that I feel it a duty again to refer to a subject which is attracting the earnest attention, and the most anxious solicitude of the people, and which continues to excite the strongest sectional prejudices, and forms perhaps the only speck in our political horizon whence any danger can be reasonably apprehended to affect the internal harmony of our confederacy.

The acquisition by the United States of a large extent of territory contiguous to that portion of the States wherein the institution of domestic slavery continues to be tolerated, and the necessity of providing some form of government for these new accessions to the jurisdiction of the general government, have furnished the occasion, which seems to be inevitable, of determining the question whether the institution of slavery shall be permitted to extend itself within the bounds of these newly acquired possessions, from which it has been excluded by the municipal laws of the power which at the time had the sovereign jurisdiction over the territory, and from which the United States acquired its title and its right.

The discussion and the decision of this exciting question, should be approached in the spirit of kindness and of mutual and charitable toleration for differences of opinion, necessarily resulting from differences of education, of habits, and of the association by which men are surrounded, and with the determination to resist and to check all tendencies, from whatever quarter they may proceed, toward fanatical agitation, sectional excitement, or partizan advancement. A firm and decided expression of our own convictions of right, and even of our unalterable determination of action, if temperately made in this spirit, is not only justifiable but proper, and can give no just cause of offence to those with whom we differ on this one point, while united by the strongest bonds of brotherhood in the recollection of a common and a glorious union in the past, in the realization of a common interest in the present, and in the hope of a brilliant and an enduring future of peace, of union, and of prosperity to our common country and to her cherished institutions.

It is no new declaration in behalf of the state of New-York, that she regards slavery as a moral, a social and a political evil.

At the time of the separation of the States from the government of Great Britain, the people of New-York, in common with most of the other states of the Union, found the institution of slavery among the evils which had been fastened upon them by the avarice or the misgovernment, or neglect of the parent country. Appreciating it then, as she now does, as an evil and a wrong, our state, early, and while the slave population was large, and bore the proportion of more than one to fifteen of the free population commenced a course of legislation for the extinction of slavery within her borders. Regarding it as a domestic relation founded upon and limited to the range of the territorial laws of our state, dependent for its continuance and its regulation upon the legislation of the several states, New-York exercised her exclusive power over the institution within her own borders, but has carefully avoided any interference with the right of other states to regulate their internal policy in their own way; not because her repugnance to human bondage, or her attachment to the principles of universal freedom, were confined to the limits of her own jurisdiction; but because of her attachment to the Union of the States, and because of her solemn regard for the compact into which she had entered with those States.

But while she has thus scrupulously abstained from all interference with the domestic institutions and the internal legislation of her sister states, her voice has been frequently raised in behalf of human freedom, and in opposition to the extension of slavery beyond the limits of those states within which it has heretofore been sanctioned. Her expressions on this point have been frequent and emphatic, and their repetition at this time will not be unexpected.

At the time of the adoption of the Federal Constitution, slavery existed in twelve of the thirteen states of the Union. From six of the twelve it has since been excluded by the legislation of the states themselves.

Seventeen new States have been added to the confederacy, nine of which recognize and sanction slavery, while only eight have come into the Union with laws prohibiting involuntary servitude. The admission of five of these eight free states was guaranteed by a compact anterior to the adoption of the Federal Constitution, made between the States of the Confederacy and the people residing in the territory northwest of the River Ohio, leaving only three new free States which have been admitted into the Union whose admission was not contemplated and assured at the adoption of the Constitution.

Of the nine new slaveholding States, five have been formed out of territory which has been acquired by the United States since the adoption of the constitution, and which, consequently, could not of right claim the benefit of the compromises of that instrument, which, nevertheless, have been gratuitously extended to them. And one of these five States has come into the Union with a clause in the resolutions whereby it was annexed, under which, at some future day, four additional slaveholding States may ask admittance into the Union.

However deeply New-York may have regretted the extension of an institution which she solemnly believes to involve a great moral wrong, and to be attended with social and political ills, in her loyalty and devotion to the Union, she has refused to consider the political advantages which have been so repeatedly conceded, and has assented to an extension of the compromises of the Constitution, in order to bring into the Union new elements of strength and of greatness, to open new fields for enterprise, and to develop the national power and the capacity of man for self-government.

In this assent to an extension of the compromises of the Constitution, while again and again yielding important political advantages, New-York has made no concession of principle. The institution of Slavery existed within the territory out of which these new States were formed, before it came under the jurisdiction of the United States, and by virtue of previously existing ordinances of the power from which our Government derived its title.

Holding that the Government of the United States has no right to interfere either towards the establishment or the abolition of this domestic relation within the limits of the several States, New-York reaffirmed her constitutional belief when she renewed the evidences of her attachment to the Union, and of her disposition to yield advantages, by assenting to the admission of these new States.

She did not stop to consider the magnitude nor the frequency of the concessions which she was making, and the merely political advantages which she was voluntarily relinquishing ;—nor does she now consider them. But she does stop before consenting to be a party to what she deems a wrong, and such she considers would be the attempt to establish Slavery, under the sanction, or with the assent of the General Government, within any portion of the Territories of the United States whence it is now legally excluded.

The General Government has made four separate acquisitions of territory. By each of the three former, slave territory was acquired, and from these acquisitions, five new slaveholding States have already been admitted into the Union, with an implied promise of four more, at some future day. The last accession of territory is the only one whereby we have acquired jurisdiction over soil whence Slavery was, by existing laws, entirely prohibited. By the treaty with Mexico, the territories of New Mexico and California came to us free ; and the laws of Mexico abolishing Slavery, which were in force at the time of the cession, continue to be operative, and are not affected by the transfer of sovereignty over the territory.

The people of California have recently taken initial steps toward admission into the Union as a sovereign State. By the Constitution which they have adopted, they have embodied, in their organic law, the prohibition of slavery or involuntary servitude. And a petition was presented to Congress, during the past winter, in behalf of a portion of the people of New Mexico, asking for the establishment of a Territorial Government, which should protect them against the institution of domestic slavery. The voice of the people of California has thus been expressed in favor of Freedom ; and there is little room for doubt that New Mexico sympathises in sentiment with California. Congress cannot, without a transgression of its constitutional powers, establish slavery within this territory ; nor can it, without the violation of the principles of justice, and an utter disregard of the wishes of the people, and of the protection which it is bound to extend over the territory to which it has acquired the title, refuse admission to the new State, or countenance or sanction, in any way, the introduction of slavery within the territory. And without the sanction and the assent of Congress, these newly acquired territories are secured to Freedom, and must remain as they now are, exempt from the institution of Slavery.

The emphatic voice of the Legislature of the State of New York, expressed in the resolutions passed at their last two sessions, and the nearly unanimous sentiment of the people of our State, have declared that under no circumstances will their assent be given to the extension of Slavery into these territories, from which it is now excluded.

New York loves the Union of the States. She will not contemplate the possibility of its dissolution; and sees no reason to calculate the enormity of such a calamity.

She also loves the cause of Human Freedom; and sees no reason to abstain from an avowal of her attachment. While, therefore, she holds fast to the one, she will not forsake the other.

The foreclosure of a mortgage, given to the Commissioners for loaning certain moneys of the United States, has vested in the State the title to a small piece of land, and to the stone building, near Newburgh, in the county of Orange, known as "Washington's Headquarters." I respectfully submit that there are associations connected with this venerable edifice which rise above the consideration of dollars and cents, and which should distinguish it from other acquisitions and property of the State, and should prevent its being disposed of, unless for objects in some degree congenial with its past history. It is perhaps the last relic within the bounds of the State, and under the control of its Legislature, connected with the history of the illustrious man who left us this patriotic admonition:—

"It is of infinite moment that you should properly estimate the immense value of your national union to your collective and individual happiness; that you should cherish a cordial, habitual, and immovable attachment to it; accustoming yourselves to think and to speak of it as a palladium of your political safety and prosperity; watching for its preservation with jealous anxiety; discountenancing whatever may suggest even a suspicion that it can in any event be abandoned; and indignantly frowning upon the first dawning of every attempt to alienate any portion of our country from the rest, or to ensueble the sacred ties which now link together the various parts.

"In contemplating the causes which may disturb our Union, it occurs as matter of serious concern that any ground should have been furnished for characterizing parties by geographical discriminations—'northern and southern, Atlantic and western;' whence designing men may endeavor to excite a belief that there is a real difference of local interests and views. One of the expedients of party to acquire influence within particular districts is, to misrepresent the opinions and aims of other districts. You cannot shield yourselves too much against the jealousies and heart-burnings which spring from these misrepresentations. They tend to render alien to each other those who ought to be bound together by fraternal affection."

If our deliberations and actions are governed by the spirit breathed forth in this admonition, we may confidently hope for the continuance to us, as a Nation, of those blessings which the wise and bountiful Ruler of the Universe has hitherto abundantly granted.

Add as rule forty-six the following: "The President shall assign to the doorkeepers their respective duties and stations."

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the forty-six rule, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The President then put the question whether the Senate would agree to the report of the committee, as amended, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The rules and orders adopted were as follows:

1. The President having taken the chair at the hour to which the Senate shall have adjourned, and a quorum being present, the journal of the preceding day shall be read, to the end that any mistake therein may be corrected.

2. After the reading and approving of the journal, the order of business shall be as follows:

1. The presentation of petitions.
2. Reports of standing committees.
3. Reports of select committees.
4. Messages from the Governor.
5. Messages from the Assembly.
6. Communications and reports from State officers.
7. Notices and the introduction of bills.
8. Motions and resolutions.
9. Third reading of bills.
10. Special orders.
11. General orders, but messages from the Governor and Assembly, and communications and reports from State officers, may be considered at any time.

3. The clerk shall make a list of all bills and of resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution, and of all other matters which shall be committed to a committee of the whole, in which they shall be arranged in the order in which they were introduced; which list shall be called the General Orders of the Day. And all such matters shall be taken up and acted upon in the several orders of business in which they may be, in order in which they stand upon the General Orders, unless the Senate shall otherwise order.

4. Whenever any bill or other matter is made the special order for a particular day, and it shall not be completed on that day, it shall retain its place in the general orders of the day, unless it shall be made the special order for another day.

5. All questions relating to the priority of business, shall be decided without debate.

6. When the reading of a paper is called for, except petitions, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the Senate, without debate.

7. No member shall speak to another, or otherwise interrupt the business of the Senate, or read any newspaper, while the journals or public papers are reading; and when the President is putting a question, no Senator shall walk out of or across the House, nor when a Senator is speaking, pass between him and the chair.

8. The President shall have the right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, who is hereby vested, during such time, with all the powers of the president; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding, nor shall his power as such substitute continue for a longer time than one day, without leave of the Senate.

9. Every member, when he speaks, shall address the chair, standing in his place. No member shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day without leave of the Senate.

10. When two or more members rise at once, the President shall name the member who is first to speak.

11. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the President or any member, delivered in at the table, and read by the President or clerk, before the same shall be debated; but it may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment.

12. When a question is before the Senate, no motion shall be received, unless to lay on the table, for an amendment, for postponing it, to commit it, or to adjourn; and a motion for adjournment shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

13. If the question in debate contain several points, any member may have the same divided.

14. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments of the main proposition.

15. Every bill shall be introduced by motion for leave, or by order of the Senate on the report of a committee; and one day's notice at least shall be given of an intended motion for leave to bring in a bill, unless the Senate unanimously order otherwise. Such notice shall state generally the subject matter of such bill.

16. Every bill shall receive three readings previous to its being passed, and the President shall give notice at each, whether it be the first, second or third; which reading shall be on three different days, unless the Senate unanimously direct otherwise. No bill shall be amended or committed until it shall have been twice read; and all resolutions which propose any amendment to the Constitution, shall be treated in the form of proceedings on them, in a similar manner with bills, except that it shall not be necessary to commit such resolutions to a committee of the whole.

17. Upon a division in the Senate, the names of those who voted for or against a question, shall be entered alphabetically on the mivotes, if two members require it; and each member called upon, unless for special reasons he be excused by the Senate, shall declare openly and without debate, his assent or dissent to the question.

18. All committees of the Senate, and all joint committees on the part thereof, for the present session, shall be appointed by the President.

19. In forming a committee of the whole Senate, a chairman to be named by the President, shall preside. Bills committed to a committee of the whole Senate, shall in committee of the whole, be read by sections. All amendments shall be noted, and reported to the Senate by the chairman. After the report, the bill shall still be subject to debate and amendment before the question to engross is put; but such amendments only shall be in order as were offered and decided in the committee of the whole Senate, except by unanimous consent.

20. The rules of the Senate shall be observed in the committee of the whole so far as may be applicable, except limiting the number of times of speaking, and except that the ayes and noes shall not be taken. Such committee may strike out the enacting clause of a bill, and report that fact to the Senate: and if the report be agreed to by the Senate, it shall be deemed a rejection of the bill.

21. A motion that the committee rise, shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

22. After a bill or a resolution to amend the Constitution shall be ordered to a third reading, no motion to amend the same shall be in order, without unanimous consent; nor, in respect to a bill, shall such motion be in order, unless before it has had its third reading; but every bill not committed to a committee of the whole, shall be read through before it shall be ordered to a third reading.

23. When a member shall be called to order, he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any two members; and if a member be called to order for words spoken, the exceptionable words shall be immediately taken down in writing, that the President or Senate may be better enabled to judge of the matter.

23. When a blank is to be filled, and different sums or time shall be proposed, the question shall be first taken on the highest sum and the longest time.

25. No member shall absent himself from the service of the Senate, without leave first obtained; and in case a less number than a quorum of the Senate shall convene, they are hereby authorised to send the sergeant-at-arms, or any other person, for any or all absent members, as the majority of such members shall agree.

26. Before any petition or memorial addressed to the Senate shall be received or read, a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be endorsed on the same, with the name of the member introducing it.

27. When a question has been once put and decided, it shall be in order for any member to move for the reconsideration thereof; but no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after the bill, resolution, message, report, amendment, or motion upon which the vote was taken, shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate, nor after the usual message shall have been sent from the Senate, announcing its decision; nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order, unless made on the same day in which the vote was taken, or within the three next days of the actual session of the Senate thereafter; nor shall any question be reconsidered more than once; and the vote on the final passage of any bill appropriating the public moneys or property, or creating, continuing, altering, or renewing any body politic or corporate shall not be re-considered, whenever such bill shall be lost.

28. The following standing committees shall be appointed :

1. On claims.
2. On finance.
3. On the judiciary.
4. On the militia.
5. On canals.
6. On railroads.
7. On roads and bridges.
8. On literature.
9. On state prisons.
10. On banks and insurance companies.
11. On the division of counties and towns.
12. On agriculture.
13. On commerce and navigation.
14. On manufactures.
15. On medical societies and medical colleges.
16. On privileges and elections.
17. On engrossed bills.
18. On Indian affairs.
19. On expiring laws.
20. On public expenditures.
21. On the incorporation of cities and villages.
22. On public buildings.
23. On the poor laws.
24. On charitable and religious societies.
25. On retrenchment.
26. On grievances.
27. Manufacture of salt.
28. Internal affairs of towns and counties.
29. On public printing—And every motion to print any petition, resolution, report, bill, message, or other manuscript, be referred to said committee. Such committee may report adversely to the printing; or they may report the number of copies which in their opinion ought to be printed; or they may recommend a part only of such papers to be printed; but no more than 1000 extra copies of any message from the Governor, nor more than 300 extra copies of any other document, shall be ordered to be printed, unless by a majority of all the Senators elected.

29. When an amendment to the Constitution, or any bill requiring the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators, is under consideration, the concurrence of two-thirds shall not be requisite to decide any question for amendments, or extending to the merits, being short of the final question.

30. On motion made and seconded to shut the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of any member, require secrecy, the President shall direct all persons, except the members and clerk of the Senate, to withdraw; and during the discussion of said motion, the doors shall remain shut; and every member and officer of the Senate shall keep secret all such matters, proceedings, and things, whereof secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

31. The proceedings of the Senate upon executive business, shall be kept in a journal separate from its proceedings upon legislative business.

32. The Senate shall go into the consideration of executive business on such days as may from time to time be deemed necessary. All nominations for the appointment of any officer shall be referred to a committee consisting of the senators from the judicial district within which the nominee may reside, and a future day for the consideration of all nominations, shall be assigned, and the consent of the Senate to the appointment of any officer, shall not be transmitted in less than one week thereafter, without the unanimous consent of the Senate; and while any nomination remains with the Senate, it shall be in order to reconsider any vote taken thereon.

33. All information and remarks in secret session, by any Senator, concerning the character or qualifications of any person nominated to office by the Governor, shall be kept secret.

34. When a bill, originated in the Assembly, shall have been lost there, neither the same, nor any other bill on the same subject, and containing similar provisions, shall be subsequently introduced into the Senate during the same session, unless by unanimous consent.

35. No person is to be admitted within the bar of the Senate, except gentlemen with ladies, the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, former Governors and Lieutenant-Governors, former Chancellors, Justices of the Court of Appeals, Justices of the Supreme Court, former Judges of the Supreme Court, Members of Congress, former Members of Congress, Members of the Legislature, former Members of the Legislature, State officers, Governor's private and military secretary, the Adjutant-General, officers of the Senate, officers of the Assembly, reporters of the Senate, persons introduced by Senators.

36. None but the president, members and clerk shall be allowed to take any books or stationery belonging to the Senate, from their chamber; and on taking books, each of the persons above mentioned shall furnish to the clerk a list of those taken, and his name, and shall be responsible for them; and the clerk shall take care that once in each week the books provided for the use of the Senate shall be placed in order, according to some fixed arrangement; and he shall make report to the president of such books as are missing.

37. The committee on engrossed bills shall examine all bills, amendments and resolutions, before they go out of possession of the Senate, and make report when they find them correctly engrossed; reports from the committee on engrossed bills shall at all times be in order. And the clerk of the Senate shall present such bills as shall have originated in the Senate and been passed by both houses, to the Governor, and enter the same upon the journals.

38. All concurrent resolutions shall lie one day on the table.

39. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made, to refer any subject, and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order, viz :

1. The committee of the whole Senate.
2. A standing committee.
3. A select committee.

40. When a bill shall be reported by a committee of the whole, and not laid upon the table or postponed, or by any other committee, (except the committee on engrossed bills,) and not committed to a committee of the whole, laid on the table, or postponed, the question shall be : Shall the report be agreed to ? and when such report shall be favorable and agreed to, or when a bill shall be twice read, and not committed, laid on the table, or postponed, the question shall be : "Shall such bill be engrossed and read a third time ?" Upon such question, the merits of the bill or resolution may be debated, and a motion to commit or recommit, to lay on the table or to postpone to a future day shall be in order. If such question shall be decided in the negative, such bill shall be deemed lost ; but if it be decided in the affirmative, such bill shall, when the Senate shall order, be read a third time, and the final question shall be taken thereon, immediately after such third reading, and without debate.

41. The question on the final passage of every bill shall be taken by ayes and noes, which shall be entered on the journal ; and unless the bill receives the number of votes required by the Constitution to pass it, it shall be declared lost, except in cases provided for by the 42d rule.

42. If, on taking the final question on a bill, it shall appear that a constitutional quorum is not present, or if the bill require a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to pass it, and it appears that such number is not present, the bill shall be laid on the table, and shall be again read, and the final question taken thereon, as provided in the 41st rule, at such time as the Senate shall order.

43. It shall be the duty of the sergeant-at-arms to have the documents and bills upon the files of the President and Senators, placed in the order of their numbers ; and for this purpose, the messengers shall be subject to his directions.

44. No rule of the Senate shall be altered, suspended or rescinded, without a vote of a majority of all the members present of the Senate ; and no motion to suspend, alter or rescind any such rule, or any joint rule of the two houses, shall be in order without the unanimous consent of the Senate, unless one day's previous notice thereof shall have been given.

45. Every report of a committee upon a bill which shall not be considered at the time of making the same, or laid on the table by a vote of the Senate, shall stand upon the general orders with the bill in the place in which the bill was placed thereon, and subject to the provisions of the third rule; but if a bill is made the special order of any day, and shall on that day be reported by a committee of the whole, the report may be forthwith considered unless the Senate shall otherwise order; and if not finished on that day, the bill with the report shall retain its place on the general orders, unless made the special order for another day, and the merits of a bill shall not be considered except under the head of general or special orders, unless by unanimous consent.

46. The president shall assign to the doorkeepers their respective duties and stations.

The President laid before the Senate a message from the Governor, which was in the words following, to wit :

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, January 12, 1850. }

To the Senate :

In compliance with the resolution of the Senate, adopted on the 9th inst., and requesting the Governor, in his discretion, to communicate for the information of the Senate, any facts, papers or documents that may be in his possession relating to convictions upon the charge of vagrancy, and with regard to the present mode of empannelling jurors in criminal cases, I have the honor to transmit herewith certain papers and letters which have been addressed to me on the subjects referred to in the resolution of the Senate. A schedule of the accompanying papers is subjoined.

HAMILTON FISH.

Ordered, That the said communication be referred to the committee on the judiciary.

The President laid before the Senate a communication from the Comptroller enclosing an abstract of returns made by cities and incorporated villages, under resolution of the Senate of April 2, 1849, which was referred to the committee on the incorporation of cities and villages.

The Hon. GEORGE W. PATTERSON,
President of the Senate.

SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution of the Senate of the 11th instant, requesting me to transmit to each of the judges of the court of appeals and of the supreme court, a copy of the report of the commissioners on practice and pleadings.

There are no copies of the report in this office, I am unable therefore, to comply with the resolution of the Senate.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
CHRISTOPHER MORGAN.

By unanimous consent,

Mr. Mann, from the committee on the judiciary, to which was referred the bill from the Assembly entitled, "An act authorising the Governor to designate a judge or judges of the supreme court to hold the circuit courts and the courts of oyer and terminer in certain cases," reported in favor of the passage of the same with amendments.

On motion of Mr. Mann,

Ordered, That said bill do have its third reading.

In pursuance of previous notice,

Mr. Cross asked for and obtained leave to introduce a bill entitled, "An act to incorporate the South Brooklyn savings bank," which was read the first time, and by unanimous consent was also read a second time, and referred to the committee on banks and insurance companies.

Mr. Schoonmaker gave notice that he would, at an early day, ask leave to introduce a bill to obviate difficulties in certain powers of sale.

On motion of Mr. Cook,

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Snyder, in the words following, to wit :

Resolved, That the report of the Commissioners on Practice and pleading be referred to the standing committee on the judiciary.

The question being upon the motion of Mr. Cook, to amend the said resolution of Mr. Snyder, by striking out all after the word "Resolved," and insert the following, to wit :

"(if the Assembly concur,) That the codes of civil and criminal procedure, reported complete by the Commissioners on Practice and Pleadings, be referred to a joint committee consisting of the judiciary committee of the Senate with two Senators added thereto, and such committee as the Assembly may appoint, whose duty it shall be to examine the codes and report thereon to the Legislature, and that they be empowered and directed to invite said Commissioners to appear before them during such revision.

Mr. Stanton moved to amend the amendment of Mr. Cook, by striking out from the last part of the resolution the words "and directed," and by adding at the end thereof the words "if they shall deem it expedient," which motion of Mr. Stanton was accepted by Mr. Cook as a part of his amendment.

Debate was had thereon, when

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the amendment of Mr. Cook, and it was decided in the affirmative, as follows :

The hour of 12 o'clock having arrived, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of the special order, it being the resolutions in relation to slavery in the District of Columbia and territories now free, reported by a majority of the select committee of which Mr. Geddes is chairman, in the words following :

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That as the Federal Constitution was formed and adopted expressly to secure the blessings of liberty to the people of the United States, and their posterity, our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed and our Representatives are requested to use their best efforts to procure the passage of laws that will effectually and forever put an end to the slave trade in the District of Columbia.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the determination indicated by the governors' messages, and the resolutions of the legislatures of various of the slave holding states, and by the Representatives of such states in Congress, to extend domestic slavery over the territory acquired by the late treaty of peace with the Republic of Mexico, we feel bound to oppose, by all constitutional means, and our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed and our Representatives are requested to use their best efforts to prohibit by positive enactment, the extension of slavery over any part of such territory, however small, and by whatever pretence of compromise.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives requested, to resist firmly, and to the utmost of their ability, and by such positive legislation as may be necessary, the extension of human slavery, or the jurisdiction of Texas over any part of New-Mexico.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That we have learned with great satisfaction, that the people of California have adopted a constitution which is entirely in accordance with the spirit of the free institutions of our country, and our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed, and our Representatives requested to aid in the passage of such laws as may be necessary to admit that state into the Union.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the people of this State are desirous of preserving inviolate the Federal Union, and that they will strenuously oppose all attempts, from whatever source they may emanate, or under whatever pretence they may be made, to effect its dissolution.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the Governor be requested to transmit a copy of the foregoing resolutions to each of the Senators and Representatives from this State in Congress.

Mr. Guinnip moved that the further consideration of said resolutions be postponed until the 22d day of February next.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said motion, and it was decided in the negative, as follows :

Mr. Mann moved to amend the first resolution by striking out all after the words "if the Senate concur," and insert the following :

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the recent message of the President of the United States in relation to California, in which he recommends to Congress not to establish a territorial government over "the territory commonly designated by the name of New Mexico," and advises that body to wait "the silent effect of causes, independent of the action of Congress," to settle "the subject which now excites such painful sensations in the country," (meaning the extension of slavery,) is a just and merited rebuke to those of his supporters in this state, who have for mere political purposes, professed on this subject opinions in opposition to those of the administration at Washington, and affords conclusive evidence that the friends of the present administration of the National Government intend to wait "the silent effect of causes, independent of the action of Congress," to settle the question of freedom or slavery in the territories, and that they are not in favor of enacting the Jeffersonian ordinance of freedom for that purpose, notwithstanding their oft-repeated professions to the contrary.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That "the claim advanced by the State of Texas to a very large portion of the most populous district of the territory commonly designated by the name of New Mexico," is not in the opinion of this Legislature any good reason why Congress should delay the establishment of a territorial government over said territory, for the protection and security of the lives and property of its inhabitants.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the policy recommended by the President, of non-interference by Congress on the subject which now in his opinion excites such painful sensations in the country, is contrary to the policy which the friends of the President in this State have heretofore professed to advocate, and that notwithstanding such recommendation by the President, we are in favor of positive and speedy action by Congress on the subject, and are decidedly opposed to waiting "the silent effect of causes, independent of the action of Congress," to settle a subject which "excites such painful sensations in the country."

Mr. Upham rose to a point of order, and submitted that a motion to strike out and insert was not now in order, in as much as the Senate had once decided not to strike out.

'The President decided the point of order to be well taken.

Mr. Mann then moved to amend the first resolution, by adding at the end thereof the following :

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the recent message of the President of the United States in relation to California, in which he recommends to Congress not to establish a territorial government over "the territory commonly designated by the name of New Mexico," and advises that body to wait "the silent effect of causes, independent of the action of Congress," to settle "the subject which now excites such painful sensations in the country," (meaning the extension of slavery,) is a just and merited rebuke to those of his supporters in this State, who have for mere political purposes, professed on this subject opinions in opposition to those of the administration at Washington, and affords conclusive evidence that the friends of the present administration of the National Government intend to await "the silent effect of causes, independent of the action of Congress," to settle the question of freedom or slavery in the territories, and that they are not in favor of enacting the Jeffersonian ordinance of freedom for that purpose, notwithstanding their oft repeated professions to the contrary.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That "the claim advanced by the State of Texas to a very large portion of the most populous district of the territory commonly designated by the name of New Mexico," is not, in the opinion of this Legislature, any good reason why Congress should delay the establishment of a territorial government over said territory, for the protection and security of the lives and property of its inhabitants.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the policy recommended by the President, of non-interference by Congress on the subject which now in his opinion excites such painful sensations in the country, is contrary to the policy which the friends of the President in this State, have heretofore professed to advocate, and that notwithstanding such recommendation by the President, we are in favor of positive and speedy action by Congress on the subject, and are decidedly opposed to waiting "the silent effect of causes independent of the action of Congress," to settle a subject which "excites such painful sensations in the country."

The President decided that the said matter, so proposed to be added, was irrelevant to the matter under consideration, and out of order.

The President then put the question whether the Senate would agree to the passage of the first resolution, and it was decided in the affirmative, as follows :

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the policy recommended by the President, of non-interference by Congress on the subject which now in his opinion excites such painful sensations in the country, is contrary to the policy which the friends of the President in this State, have heretofore professed to advocate, and that notwithstanding such recommendation by the President, we are in favor of positive and speedy action by Congress on the subject, and are decidedly opposed to waiting "the silent effect of causes independent of the action of Congress," to settle a subject which "excites such painful sensations in the county."

Mr. Mann moved that said resolutions be laid upon the table.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said motion, and it was decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Mann then moved that said resolutions be printed.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said motion, and it was decided in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Schoonmaker,

Resolved, That the committee on claims be discharged from the further consideration of the petition of Henry Wager and Ward Hunt, and that the same be referred to the canal commissioners, and that they be requested to report to the Senate the facts in relation to the matters set forth in said petition.

On motion of Mr. Snyder,

Resolved, That the bill from the Assembly entitled, "An act authorising the supervisors of Dutchess county to remove the poor house of said county," together with the report thereon of the committee of the Senate on internal affairs of towns and counties, be taken from the table and recommitted to said committee for further consideration.

The bill entitled, "An act further to amend the charter of the Attica and Hornellsville railroad company, passed May 14, 1845," was read the third time and passed, a majority of all the members elected to the Senate voting in favor thereof, as follows :

FOR THE AFFIRMATIVE.

Mr. Babcock	Mr. Dart	Mr. Owen
Mr. Beach	Mr. Dimmick	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Beekman	Mr. Fox	Mr. Schoonmaker

Mr. Cook, from the joint committee to revise the joint rules and orders of the Senate and Assembly, reported said rules amended so as to read as follows:

1st. Each House shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

2d. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed in one House, is rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the House in which the same may have passed.

3d. Messages from one House to the other, shall be communicated by the respective clerks of each House, unless the House transmitting the message shall especially direct otherwise.

4th. It shall be in the power of either House to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

5th. In every case of difference between the two Houses, upon any subject of legislation, either House may request a conference, and appoint a committee for that purpose, and the other shall also appoint a committee to confer. The committee shall meet at such hour and place as shall be appointed by the chairman of the committee on the part of the House requesting such conference. The conferees shall state to each other verbally or in writing, as either shall choose, the reasons of their respective Houses, and confer freely thereon. The committee shall report in writing, and shall be authorized to report such modifications or amendments as they think advisable. The papers shall be left with the conferees of the House assenting to such conference; and they shall present the report of the committee to their House. When such House shall have acted thereon, they shall transmit the same, and the papers relating thereto, to the other, with a message certifying its action thereon.

6th. It shall be in order for either House to recede from any subject matter of difference, subsisting between the two Houses at any time previous to conference, whether the papers on which such difference arose, are before the House receding, formally or informally; and on such vote to recede, the same number shall be required to constitute a quorum to act thereon, and to assent to such receding, as was required on the original question out of which the difference arose.

7th. After each House shall have adhered to their disagreement, the bill which is the subject of difference shall be deemed lost, and shall not be again revived during the same session in either House.

8th. All joint committees of the two Houses, and all committees of conference, shall consist of three Senators and five members of Assembly, unless otherwise specially ordered by concurrent resolution.

9th. Whenever ten or more bills shall be in readiness for final reading in either House, such House shall assign a day for the final reading of such bills, which day shall be within one week thereafter. At the time appointed, such House shall proceed to the final reading of bills, and continue the same from day to day, until all bills then in readiness for final reading shall have been read, except as herein provided. All bills shall have their last reading in each House, in the order in which the same shall have been ordered to a final reading in such House; but either House may assign a day certain, for the final reading of a particular bill; or it may, by a majority of all the members present, order any bill when reached to lie on the table. In all cases where a bill shall be so ordered to lie on the table, it shall retain its place in the order of the final reading of bills, but shall not be called up for consideration unless by the vote of a majority of the members present.

10th. No bill which shall have passed one House, shall have its final reading in the other, in less than two days thereafter, without the consent of two-thirds of the members thereof present.

11th. The same bill shall not, specially or by name, create, renew or continue more than one incorporation, nor contain any provisions in relation to the altering of more than one incorporation by name, but this rule shall not be construed to apply to corporations to be formed under general laws according to the eighth article of the constitution.

12th. Whenever there shall be an election of officers by the two Houses, the result shall be certified by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the Assembly, and shall be reported by the presiding officer of each House, to their respective Houses, and be entered on the journals of each, and shall be communicated to the Governor by the clerks of the two Houses.

13th. There shall be printed, of course, and without order, 380 copies of all original bills reported by committees of either House; and 800 copies of all messages from the Governor, (except messages certifying his approval of bills,) all reports of standing or select committees, and all reports or communications made in pursuance of law, or of a resolution of either House; which number shall be denominated the usual number.

14th. The bills and documents when printed shall be distributed as follows:

Of Bills, there shall be sent
To the Senate,.....	84 copies.
To the Assembly,	218 copies.
To the State Officers,	28 copies.
Retained to bind,	50 copies.

For distribution by the Governor to other states,	32 copies.
Retained to bind for literary exchanges to be made by the Regents of the University,.....	58 copies.
Bound for State Library,	10 copies.

800 copies.

There shall also be printed and bound for the State Library, 10 copies of the Session Laws and of the Journal of each House, and 50 copies of the same for the Regents of the University for the purpose of literary exchanges.

When any extra number of any Messages or Documents are ordered, there shall be printed, in addition to the number so ordered, 60 copies to be sent to the Executive Chamber, for the use of the Governor, and also 10 copies for each of the State Officers, and 100 copies for the use of the Regents of the University, from which they shall be entitled to retain 1 copy for each of said Regents and their officers, and the balance shall be used for literary exchanges.

Whenever any order is made to print extra copies of Messages or Documents, the term "usual number" shall be construed to mean three hundred.

In case the printing of an extra number is ordered, one-third thereof shall be sent to the Senate, and the remainder to the Assembly, unless otherwise directed by law or concurrent resolution.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said report, and it was decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Guinnip offered for the consideration of the Senate, a resolution in the words following, to wit:

Resolved, That a joint committee of the Senate and Assembly be appointed to enquire into and investigate the subject of the doings of the Canal Commissioners, under an act in relation to the Chemung canal, passed April 10, 1848, and of fraud alleged to have been practiced upon the state under said act, that said committee have power to send for persons and papers, and report to the Legislature the result of their investigation at the earliest practicable period.

Mr. Guinnip moved that said resolution be laid upon the table.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said motion, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of Executive business.

On motion of Mr. Cook,

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the motion to reconsider its vote on the following resolution :

Resolved, That in the judgment of the Senate the objects to be obtained by savings banks or corporations, cannot be secured to the community by a general law for that purpose.

Debate was had thereon, when

Mr. Cook moved that said motion to reconsider be laid upon the table.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said motion, and it was decided in the negative.

Mr. Carroll moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said motion, and it was decided in the negative.

The President then put the question whether the Senate would agree to reconsider the said vote, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The question then recurring on the adoption of the resolution,

Mr. Morgan moved to amend the resolution, by striking out all after the words "savings banks," and insert the following:

"When left to the Legislature on each application, are more likely to be secured to that portion of the community which they are intended to benefit, than they would be under a general law for that purpose."

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said amendment, and it was decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Mann then moved to amend the resolution, by striking out all after the word "resolved," and insert the words, "that the committee on banks and insurance companies be instructed to report a bill for the incorporation of a savings bank for the consideration of the Senate.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said amendment of Mr. Mann, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The President then put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said resolution as amended, and it was decided in the affirmative.

The President laid before the Senate a communication, in the words following, to wit:

Friday, January 25, 1850.

The Hon. GEORGE W. PATTERSON,

President of the Senate:

MY DEAR SIR—The Rev. Mr. Pinney, agent of the N. Y. State colonization society, will deliver his address this evening, in the Assembly chamber, on African colonization. Mr. Pinney has himself been formerly governor of the Colony, and so important are the facts recently communicated from that settlement, that the United States Government are entertaining the proposition to make a commercial treaty with the Liberian Republic, as England France, Belgium and Germany have already done. The members of the Senate are respectfully invited to be present.

With regards, &c.,

GABRIEL P. DISOSWAY,

In behalf of N. Y. S. Col. Society.

On motion of Mr. Schoonmaker,
The Senate then adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Of all the real estate belonging to such society on the 15th day of April, 1839, with a particular description of each separate tract or parcel, the number of acres, and value of each of said separate tracts, and the number, size and description of the buildings upon each of such separate tracts or parcels.

2. Of all the real estate belonging to such society and acquired since the said 15th of April, 1839, together with the quantity and particular description of each separate tract or parcel, the times when and names of persons from whom the same was purchased or procured, the consideration paid or agreed to be paid for the same, the number and description of the buildings upon the same at the times of such purchase, and the number, size and description of the buildings and out-houses put or erected upon the same since such purchase.

3. Of all real estate sold by such society since the said 15th day of April, 1839, to whom sold or conveyed, and the price and consideration for which each separate tract or parcel was so sold or conveyed.

4. Of all personal property of every description now owned and possessed by or for said society, and including such as may be in the hands and possession of their agents and others for disposition or otherwise.

5. Of all monies on hand or upon deposit with incorporated companies, banks or individuals, all government stocks and stocks of banks or other incorporated companies, all notes, bonds, mortgages, accounts, demands, evidences of indebtedness, or other securities owned by or held in trust for the use and benefit of such society.

6. Of all monies or property received by or in trust for such society since the first day of February, 1849, for the sale and disposition of manufactured articles, seeds and property of every description, and of all sums of money remaining unpaid and owing to such society upon or for such sales and disposition.

7. Of all sums of money and other property expended by such society since the first day of February, 1839, in buildings and permanent erections upon the real estate of such society.

Resolved, That the Clerk cause a copy of the foregoing resolution to be served on the elders and trustees of each society of Shakers within this State, by mailing the same, directed to such elders and trustees, and by causing a copy of said resolution to be published for two successive weeks in the state paper.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the report of the select committee on the bill from the Assembly entitled, "An act to regulate, confirm and limit the powers, privileges and franchises of plank road companies," as follows:

The People of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

§ 1. Every company formed or organised under the act entitled, "An act for the incorporation of companies to construct plank roads and of companies to construct turnpike roads," passed May 7, 1847, and the several acts amending the same, shall be deemed to be a valid corporation, although such company may not have complied with the requirements of such acts in the formation and organisation of such company; and no act or omission on the part of any such company, or of its stockholders or officers, shall work a forfeiture of its corporate powers or franchises, unless the same was wilful or malicious ; but this section shall not affect or impair any right of action which has heretofore accrued to any person or persons against such company, its officers or agents, for entering upon or taking possession of any real estate, or any right of action now existing, arising on contract ; or any right of action against any company or its officers, for a misapplication of its funds ; or any action now pending to forfeit or annul the corporate powers or franchises of any such company, or any action pending to recover toll, or to recover any penalty for passing a gate without paying toll.

§ 2. Section five of the act entitled, "An act in relation to plank roads and turnpike roads," passed April 6, 1849, is repealed, and the following substituted in lieu thereof :

§ 5. Sections fifty-four and fifty-five of title first, chapter eighteen of part first of the Revised Statutes, shall apply to all companies formed under the before mentioned act, passed May 7, 1847, so far as the same can be applied or are not inconsistent with this act.

§ 3. No action to recover any penalty against any company formed under an act entitled, "An act for the incorporation of companies to construct plank roads and of companies to construct turnpike roads," and the acts amending the same, shall be commenced or maintained against such company or any of its officers or agents unless the same is commenced within thirty days after the penalty was incurred.

§ 4. The second section of "An act in relation to plank roads and turnpike roads," passed April 6, 1849, is amended by adding thereto the following, to be the eighth subdivision of said section :

8. All persons residing within three miles of any grist mill or blacksmith's shop, where they ordinarily get their grinding or blacksmith's work done, shall be exempt from the payment of toll on any plank road, in going to and returning from such mill or shop for the express purpose of getting grinding or blacksmith's work done

§ 5. No supervisor or commissioner of highways of any town, shall make any agreement with any plank road company or turnpike road company under the first section of "An act in relation to plank road and turnpike road companies," passed November 24, 1847, for the right to take and use any part of any public highway for a plank road or a turnpike road, without they first obtain the consent in writing of at least two-thirds of all the owners of land along such highway, who actually reside on that part of the highway on which such plank road or turnpike road is to be constructed.

§ 6. No plank road or turnpike road shall hereafter be constructed of less than ten miles in length, without the same is authorised by the board of supervisors of the county in which it is located.

§ 7. This act shall take effect immediately.

"An act for the relief of tenants holding lands under perpetual leases in this State."

The bill from the Assembly entitled, "An act for the speedy disposition of certain suits."

And after some time spent thereon, Mr. Cross, from said committee, reported progress on said first mentioned bill and asked for and obtained leave to sit again.

Mr. Cross, from same committee, reported in favor of the passage of said last mentioned bill without amendment, which report was agreed to, and said bill ordered engrossed for a third reading.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication:

Albany, March 11, 1850.

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE:

SIR—In the published proceedings of the Senate of Saturday last, I notice that the select committee appointed to investigate certain preferred charges of fraud in relation to the construction of a portion of the Chemung canal have been discharged from the further consideration of the subject, and that the resolution appointing such committee has been rescinded.

Confident that the official acts of the Canal Commissioners complained of would bear the strictest scrutiny, I urged when the subject was under consideration in the Senate, that there should be no opposition to the desired investigation.

I am still anxious and solicitous that the investigation should take place, and regret exceedingly the rescinding of the resolution and the discharge of the committee.

Charges derogatory to my character as a man and a public officer have been made by the Senator from the 26th, accompanied by a speech which he felt to be his duty to make, and these have been sent in great numbers to various parts of the State.

In a subsequent discussion in the Senate upon this same subject, this Senator declared that the Commissioners were expending large sums of money daily upon the work, and that early measures should be taken to stop this fraudulent expenditure of the public money.

With this apparently earnest solicitude of the Senator for an investigation of these charges, which he claimed that his public duty required him to make, I confess I was not only unprepared but surprised to find him the first Senator to offer a resolution discharging the committee of investigation from the further consideration of the charges which he had preferred, and of which committee he himself was chairman, and that too when not a single fact had been presented to the Senate in defence of the Commissioners.

These charges strike deep at public and private character; they are made in the capitol of the State, on the floor of one of the most dignified branches of the government, and by one of its members. This gives them a consequence that under other circumstances they might not have, and I respectfully submit that the Senate ought not to allow this matter to pass out from their jurisdiction and control, without giving the Senator an opportunity to prove his charges to be true, or the Canal Commissioners relieved from the imputations thus cast upon them.

Therefore I ask of the Senate, as an act of justice due to myself and to the public whose servant I am, that the same body before whom the charges have been preferred, will authorise and direct the select committee of which the Senator from the 26th was chairman, to proceed and investigate the charges and report to the Senate without delay.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
CHARLES COOK,
Canal Commissioner.

Mr. Robinson moved that said communication be laid upon the table.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said motion, and it was decided in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Johnson,

The Senate then adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, MARCH 12, 1850.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

The question being upon agreeing to the resolutions of the committee on literature, as follows :

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed, and our Representatives requested, to use their best efforts to secure the passage of an act establishing a uniform rate of postage throughout the United States of two cents on all letters weighing half an ounce, if pre-paid, or four cents for each half ounce if not pre-paid : Also, (for the purpose of more satisfactorily testing the practicability of such a reduction of the postage rates,) to use their best efforts to secure by further enactment, the keeping of a distinct account of all matter allowed to pass through the mails free of postage, and to make the same, except such as shall relate to the business of the post office department, a charge, at the rates of other mail matter, upon the treasury of the United States : Also, to use their best exertions, by further enactment, to provide for the conveyance by mail, postage free, of all regular newspapers in the United States, within the counties in which they are printed and published.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the Governor be requested to forward copies of the foregoing resolution, to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Mr. Babcock moved to amend said report by substituting the following for said resolutions :

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That it be recommended to the Senators and Representatives of the State of New-York in Congress of the United States, to use their best efforts to procure the passage of a law during the present session of Congress which shall reduce the postage chargeable on all letters, not exceeding half an ounce in weight, carried in the United States mail, for all distances within the United States and the territories thereof, to five cents, and for any additional weight, to five cents for each half ounce, or for any fraction less than half an ounce ; and in case of prepayment at the post-office where such letters are deposited, such postage to be further reduced to two cents for each half ounce in weight, and to two cents additional for each additional half ounce and fraction less than half an ounce.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That it is unjust and inexpedient that the expenses of unproductive mail routes, of free letters and documents, of dead letters, and the excess of the cost of transporting in the mails, newspapers and pamphlets beyond the postage charged on them, should be borne solely by those who send and receive letters ; that such service is for the benefit of the whole people, and its expense should be defrayed from the common treasury, if the revenues of the post-office department under a reduced rate of postage, should prove insufficient ; and that said Senators and Representatives be requested to use their best efforts for an early removal of this oppressive and unequal tax upon the business and social relations of the people.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That our Senators and Representatives, in Congress be requested to recommend the adoption of a law making newspaper postage free in each county where the same are printed.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That the Governor be requested to forward copies of the foregoing resolution, to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Whereas, The following amendment to the constitution of this State, was at the last session of the Legislature, proposed in the Senate, viz: "In case of the impeachment of the Governor, or his removal from office, death, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of said office; resignation or absence from the State, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve on the Lieutenant Governor for the residue of the term or until the disability shall cease; or if there shall be a vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor, or if the Lieutenant Governor be under impeachment, or be absent from the State or incapable of performing the duties of his office, then the powers and duties of the office of Governor shall devolve upon the President of the Senate; or if there be no President of the Senate at the time, then upon the Speaker of the Assembly, for the residue of the term of said Governor, or until the disability shall cease. But when the Governor shall, with the consent of the Legislature, be out of the State in time of war, at the head of a military force, he shall continue commander-in-chief of all the military force in the State."

And whereas, The said proposed amendment was then agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, and was entered upon the journals with the ayes and nays taken thereon, and referred to the Legislature then to be chosen "at the next general election of Senators"

And whereas, The said proposed amendment has been duly published three months previous to the time of making such choice.

Resolved, That the Senate do agree to the said proposed amendment.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said amendment and it was decided in the affirmative, as follows:

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following, to wit :

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, April 1, 1850. }

To the Senate:

A bill which originated in the Senate, entitled "An act to extend the charter of the Schoharie central bridge company," has been presented to me for the official approval, which I am constrained to withhold.

Section one of article eight of the constitution declares that "corporations may be formed under general laws, but shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes, and in cases where, in the judgment of the Legislature, the objects of the corporation cannot be attained under general laws."

The Schoharie central bridge company was incorporated by an act of the Legislature passed April 16, 1822, (Laws 45th session, chap. 219,) for a term of thirty years. The charter will consequently expire in April, 1852.

The bill now presented to me, proposes to extend the charter of this corporation for thirty years from its passage. Its effect therefore is to give to an existing corporation a new existence beyond the term limited by its charter. Beyond that period it will therefore practically and substantially have the effect of a new act of incorporation. It will give existence to a corporation which without this special act would have no existence after the expiration of the thirty years limited in the original charter. In other words, the bill in effect creates a corporation from a certain future day.

The power of the Legislature to create corporations by special acts, is confined to corporations for municipal purposes, and to cases where, in the judgment of the Legislature, the objects cannot be attained under general laws.

The object of the corporation whose charter it is now proposed to extend, is to build and maintain a bridge.

On the 11th of April, 1848, the Legislature passed a general law entitled, "An act to provide for the incorporation of bridge companies," (Laws 71st session, chap. 259,) authorising the formation of corporations for the purpose of constructing and owning bridges across any streams of water. The 21st section of this act provides that any existing corporation, having for its object the construction and maintenance of any bridge whose charter shall expire, may be continued as a corporation by complying with the provisions of the act, so far as the same are applicable, on obtaining the consent of the supervisors of the county in which the bridge is situated.

In the absence of any general law authorising the formation of corporations for any particular object, the enactment of a special act incorporating a company for such object, may perhaps in some cases be assumed as an indication of the opinion of the Legislature that in its judgment those objects cannot be attained under general laws. But the enactment of the general law above referred to, establishes that the objects of corporations of the character of that whose charter the bill before me proposes to extend, are such as can, in the judgment of the Legislature, be attained under general laws. Hence it follows clearly that the Legislature has not the power to create by a special act a corporation for those objects.

The question then presents itself, whether an act extending the duration of an existing corporation in violation of the spirit of the constitution, which prohibits the Legislature from creating by special act a corporation with similar objects to that which it is proposed to extend. Had the charter expired, there would be no doubt of the want of power in the Legislature to create by special act a corporation for the objects contemplated by the act which it is proposed by this bill to extend. And I cannot persuade myself that the fact that the charter of the company in question has not yet expired, can give the Legislature a power which it clearly would not possess had the charter expired before the attempt to exercise such power.

The Legislature of 1850 has no power under the constitution with respect to granting acts of incorporation, which may not equally be exercised by the Legislature of 1853.

The charter of the Schoharie bridge company will have expired by its own limitation in the year 1852. After that date and so long as a general law applicable to the formation of similar corporations shall remain in force, there can be no pretence of a power in the Legislature to pass a special act giving an existence for twenty-eight years to the company for whose benefit this bill is designed. In my opinion the Legislature cannot merely by anticipation exercise a prohibited power.

I do not doubt that the Legislature may constitutionally alter or amend, by a special law, an existing charter granted prior to the adoption of the present constitution, and in a case in which a corporation could not now be created, except under a general law, so as to enable the corporation the better to accomplish the objects of its creation, and with this view may modify its corporate powers. But such alteration or modification must be within the limits of the existence of the charter, and must not extend to the reviving or continuing of the charter beyond its limitation, the effect of which would be to create a new corporation.

Believing therefore that the bill referred to is in effect in contravention of the provisions of the constitution limiting the power of the Legislature to create corporations by special act, I am compelled to withhold from it my approval, and I respectfully return the bill for the further consideration of the Legislature.

The Senate then resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the bill entitled, "An act to revive and amend the act entitled 'An act appointing commissioners to lay out a road from Peekskill, in the county of Westchester, to the store of James Towner, in the county of Putnam,' so far as the same in any way relates to the town of Yorktown," and after some time spent thereon, Mr. Carroll, from said committee, reported progress, and asked for and obtained leave to sit again.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following, to wit :

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, April 2, 1850. }

To the Legislature:

I learn from the public journals that the Hon. John C. Calhoun died at Washington on the morning of Sunday last. His death is an event of interest and a source of grief to all sections of the country, in whose service nearly the whole of his active life has been spent. I believe therefore that I consult the public sense of propriety not less than my own feelings, in giving you this official information of his decease.

Mr. Calhoun became connected with the federal government at an early age, and died in its service. He has been a member of the House of Representatives, Secretary of War, Secretary of State, Senator in Congress, and Vice President of the United States.

In each of these stations he has been distinguished by ability, integrity and independence. He has taken a very prominent part in every great question which has agitated the country during the last forty years, and has exerted a commanding influence upon the whole course of our public policy.

In his death the nation has lost a statesman of consummate ability and unsullied character.

It is fitting that this State should evince sorrow at his death, by such action as her representatives may deem appropriate.

HAMILTON FISH.

Mr. Morgan offered for the consideration of the Senate, the following resolutions, to wit:

Resolved, That a select committee of three be appointed on the part of the Senate, to meet with a committee on the part of the Assembly, to report resolutions expressive of the sense of the Legislature relative to the death of the Hon. John C. Calhoun, and that the Senate will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon to hear the report of said committee.

Resolved, That the Clerk deliver a copy of this resolution to the Assembly, and request their concurrence therein.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said resolutions, and it was decided in the affirmative.

Ordered, That if the Assembly concur in the passage of these resolutions, Messrs. Morgan, Mann and Babcock, be said committee on the part of the Senate.

The Senate then resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the special order for the day, being the bill from the Assembly entitled, "An act making an appropriation in part for the support of certain hospitals," and after some time spent thereon, Mr. Dimmick, from said committee, reported progress, and asked for and obtained leave to sit again.

A message was received from the Assembly, informing that they had concurred in the resolutions of the Senate in relation to the death of Hon. John C. Calhoun, and appointed Messrs. Ford, Monroe, Raymond, Goddard and Church, of said committee on the part of that House.

The Senate then took a recess until 4 o'clock p. m.

4 O'CLOCK P. M.

The Senate again met.

The Senate then resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the bill from the Assembly entitled, "An act making an appropriation for the support in part of certain hospitals," and after some time spent thereon, Mr. Dimmick, from said committee, reported in favor of the passage of the same with amendments, and the title altered so as to read, "An act making an appropriation in part for the support of certain hospitals and poor houses."

Mr. Babcock moved to amend the second section of said bill so as to read as follows:

§ 2, Each of said hospitals shall, on the first day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty, make a report to the comptroller, verified by the oath of its president and superintendent, or its resident physicians and surgeons, of the number of patients admitted into said hospital during the five months preceding and thereafter annually for the year preceding such report, the diseases for which treated, and the duration of such treatment; and said sum shall be divided among said hospitals in proportion to the number of patients so treated and the time they were respectively under treatment during the periods aforesaid, and the comptroller shall draw his warrant on the treasurer for the amount to which each of said hospitals shall be entitled for its pro rata share of said sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said amendments, and it was decided in the negative, as follows:

Ordered, That said bill do have its third reading.

Mr. Morgan, from the joint select committee appointed to report resolutions in relation to the death of John C. Calhoun, reported the following:

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of New-York have heard with deep regret the announcement, by a message from the Governor, of the death of John C. Calhoun, United States Senator from South Carolina; that they entertain sentiments of profound respect for the pre-eminent ability, the unsullied personal character and the high minded independence which, throughout his life, distinguished his devotion to the public service, and that they unite with their fellow citizens throughout the Union in deploring his death as a public bereavement.

Resolved, That the Governor of this State be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to the President of the Senate of the United States, with a request that the same be entered on their journals, and a copy to the Governor of the State of South Carolina, with a request that he transmit the same to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That as a token of respect for the memory of the deceased, the public offices be closed, and the flag upon the capitol be displayed at half-mast for twenty-four hours, and that the Senate do now adjourn.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said resolutions, and it was decided in the affirmative.

By unanimous consent,

Mr. Dart moved that the bill from the Assembly entitled, "An act declaring Rackett river in the State of New-York a public highway and regulating the passage of lumber down the same," be recommended to a select committee to report complete.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to the said motion, and it was decided in the affirmative.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following, to wit :

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, April 4, 1850. }

To the Senate:

I return to the Senate a bill entitled, "An act in relation to the society for the reformation of juvenile delinquents in the city of New-York," with the objections which presented themselves to me against giving to it my approval.

The bill provides that certain premises now under lease to the managers of the society for the reformation of juvenile delinquents in the city of New-York, shall, upon the sale thereof, be released and discharged from the lien and incumbrance of the sinking fund of the city of New-York; and that instead of such lien and incumbrance any premises "which shall be procured by the said society for the site and erection thereon of their buildings," shall be subject to the lien and incumbrance of said sinking fund in the same manner and to the same extent that the premises now occupied by the said society are now subject thereto.

The fee of the property now under lease to this society, which it is proposed to discharge from the lien of the sinking fund, belongs to the corporation of the city of New-York, and did so belong on the 22nd of February, 1844. The land is leased to the society for the use of the House of Refuge, to revert to the city whenever it shall cease to be thus used.

On 22nd February, 1844, the mayor, aldermen and commonalty of the city of New-York adopted an ordinance, providing for the redemption of the city debt, and the payment of the interest thereon, (corporation ordinances, revised 1845, page 211,) whereby all money received and to be received from several sources, and among others "The nett proceeds of all sales of real estate belonging to the corporation, when sold" were pledged, appropriated to, and constituted and formed a fund called "The sinking fund of the city of New-York for the redemption of the city debt" until the whole of the stocks of the city of New-York shall be finally and fully redeemed. This ordinance was recognized by an act of the Legislature passed May 13, 1845, (laws 68th session chap. 225) which act declared that the ordinance should not be amended without the consent of the Legislature, except by appropriating additional sources of revenue thereto. The object of this prohibition was to prevent the withdrawal of any of the property or sources of income pledged to the sinking fund, whereby the security of the creditors of the city might be in any degree diminished.

It is now proposed to release the land occupied by the House of Refuge, constituting a part of the property pledged to the creditors of the city of New-York for the redemption of its public debt, from the lien of that debt, and to substitute in lieu thereof a lien upon "any premises which shall be procured by the said society for the site and erection thereon of their buildings." It does not appear from the bill what shall be the value of the premises thus to be procured by the society. If (as is alleged) the premises thus to be procured shall be of far inferior value to the land released from the lien of the sinking fund, it is manifest that a wrong will be committed upon the creditors of the city who have loaned their money upon the faith of the security of these lands.

Another objection to the terms of the bill is that while it proposes to release from the lien of the sinking fund, lands belonging to the city of New-York now leased to the society for the reformation of juvenile delinquents it proposes to transfer the lien from the property of the city to premises which shall be procured by the society itself. The power of the State to transfer an incumbrance upon property belonging to one party, but occupied by another, to other property which is about to be procured by the occupant, will scarcely be asserted, and yet this is precisely what the bill proposes to effect.

The credit of the city of New-York stands deservedly high and should not in any degree be impaired. The sanctity of public faith and the inviolability due to contracts and public engagements, require that if the public necessity demands a substitution of securities for any portion of those pledged for the redemption of those engagements, care be taken that those substituted be fully of equal value with those released, and that no room be left for doubt as to the validity of the lien imposed upon the substituted property.

The Legislature has prohibited the corporation of the city from altering the ordinance which created the lien by diminishing the security. It has thus in a degree, assumed the guardianship over the fund, and the protection of its inviolability. It should therefor be held to a rigid scrutiny into any proposed alteration of the securities, which have been pledged to the sinking fund.

The character of the corporation of the city of New-York may afford an assurance that no advantage will be taken of the manner in which this bill has been drawn, to diminish the amount of security to the fund for the benefit of its creditors. But this reliance will not justify the enactment of a law, which, by permitting a wrong, that may not, and doubtless will not be committed, will yet stand upon the statute books and may be appealed to in future times as an evidence of improvident legislation, if not as a precedent for the commission of acts such as this bill would sanction.

I have the less hesitation in returning this bill from the fact that I am convinced that the parties who have asked it, contemplated no such action as would be inconsistent with the most scrupulous regard to the integrity of the entire fund, to which the lands referred to in the bill are pledged. Should the Legislature not deem the objections which I have presented of sufficient weight to arrest the enactment of the bill into a law, my duty will have been discharged in presenting those objections. Approving of the objects which I understand to be proposed by the corporation of New-York, and the society for the reformation of juvenile delinquents, I trust that a bill to effect those objects can be readily framed which shall be free from the objections which compel me, to return this bill, without my signature, to the Senate.

The President put the question whether the Senate wou'd pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the Governor, and it was decided in the negative, as follows :

The Senate again met.

A message from the Governor was received and read in the words following, to wit :

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, April 4, 1850. }

To the Senate:

I have this day approved and signed the following bills :

"An act to incorporate the Hudson city savings institution."

"An act to revise and amend the several acts relating to the city of Brooklyn."

"An act to reorganize and regulate the common schools and the board of education in the city of Brooklyn."

HAMILTON FISH.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following, to wit :

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, April 5, 1850. }

To the Senate:

I respectfully return to the Senate, (in which it originated,) a bill entitled "An act to incorporate the Barryville and Shehola Delaware Bridge Company."

This bill is liable to the same objections of want of power on the part of the Legislature to create by a special act, a corporation for the objects proposed, which I had the honor to submit the Senate on the first day of April instant, when I returned the bill to extend the charter of the Schoharie Central Bridge Company.

It proposes to create a corporation for the purpose of erecting a bridge across the Delaware river, after that the Legislature has enacted a general law for the incorporation of bridge companies.

The fact that the stream over which the proposed bridge is to be constructed, is the dividing line between this and an adjoining State, may possibly exhibit a necessity for some modification of the general law now in force, for the incorporating of bridge companies. But it cannot have effect to relax the prohibition which the constitution has imposed upon the power of the Legislature to create corporations by special acts, for objects which can be attained under general laws.

A charter granted by special act of the Legislature of this State, would not authorise the corporation thereby created, to construct its bridge within the jurisdiction of the State of Pennsylvania, without authority from that State. It would only confer corporate existence and powers, together with such rights as the wisdom of the Legislature might think fit to grant, over so much of the stream as lies within the limits of our own State.

The same corporate existence and powers may be obtained under the general law.

In returning this bill without my signature, I beg leave to repeat what I suggested in a recent message to the Senate, returning with objections, the bill to extend the charter of the Schoharie Central Bridge Company. That so long as a general law exists, authorising the formation of corporations for specific objects, I must consider the constitutional prohibition against the power of the Legislature to grant special charters to companies for the same objects, as wholly operative and conclusive, against the power to grant such special charter.

In the absence however, of a general law authorising the formation of corporations for specific objects, a proper respect for the wisdom and discretion of the coordinate branches of the government, will compel me to presume that the Legislature has not attempted the exercise of a prohibited power, but has carefully considered the objects proposed, and has, by the passage of the special act, determined that it is a case "where in the judgment of the Legislature, the objects of the corporation cannot be attained under general laws," even though, in my own judgment, such objects might be attained under general laws.

The section of the constitution restraining the power of granting special charters submits the decision of the question whether the objects of the corporation can or cannot be attained under general laws, to the judgment of the legislature; not of the executive.

In case of difference of opinion, I shall therefore feel bound to defer my own, to the judgment of the Senate and Assembly, whom the constitution makes the arbiter on the question. I know of no other rule of action in such cases that will prevent collision between the separate branches of the government, or that will avoid an undue assumption on the part of the executive, over the free exercise of the legislative judgment.

I may be permitted to add that at the close of the last session of the legislature, in the extreme pressure incident to the last hours previous to the adjournment (into which unfortunately so much of the business of the whole session is apt to be crowded, that but little opportunity is afforded the executive for even a cursory examination of the bills presented for his signature) I did inadvertently give my approval to a bill for the incorporation of a company, from which I should undoubtedly have withheld it, had the object of the bill attracted my attention.

I refer to this for the purpose of showing the necessity during the remaining days of this session of a most careful consideration by the legislature, of the various bills that may be presented for its final action, and for the purpose of suggesting that while I shall endeavor to exercise the most exact vigilance to prevent the enactment of laws which may infringe any of the provisions of the constitution, the very brief time allowed to the executive, toward the close of the session, for the examination of bills and the consequent hasty investigation upon which he is compelled to act, necessarily subject him to the liability of mistake.

The extent of this liability may be appreciated by a reference to the fact that during the last five days of the sitting of the last legislature there were presented to me no less than two hundred and one bills extending over three hundred and fifty three pages of the session laws.

The bills presented for executive approval have previously occupied the attention of the Senate and Assembly with the advantages of deliberate discussion and debate, and are by them held under consideration so long as doubts are entertained with regard to their propriety. But the large number of bills presented to the executive toward the close of the session, are to be acted upon by him, if at all, within a very few days, and without the benefit of the suggestion of doubts, or of difficulties, by other minds.

I therefore earnestly appeal to the legislature for the exercise of its utmost vigilance over the bills proposed for its action during the remaining days of the session, assuring them at the same time of my determination to discharge to the best of my ability, my full share of the responsibility and of the duties connected with the enactment of laws which belong to my office.

HAMILTON FISH.

The question being on agreeing to the said bill notwithstanding the objections of the Governor,

Mr. Babcock moved that said bill be laid on the table.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said motion, and it was decided in the affirmative.

A bill was received from the Assembly for concurrence entitled, "An act to authorise the city of Buffalo to subscribe to the capital stock of the Buffalo Water Works Company," which was read the first time, and by unanimous consent was also read a second time.

On motion of Mr. Babcock and by unanimous consent,

On motion of Mr. Johnson,

Resolved, That the bill from the Assembly, entitled "An act in relation to taxes for highway purposes in the county of Fulton," be taken from the general orders, and ordered to a third reading.

On motion of Mr. Cross,

WHEREAS, The cities of New-York, Brooklyn, and the village of Williamsburgh, are divided only by the narrow strait of East river, while the citizens of all, by their business, domestic and social relations, are closely connected together : and whereas, jealousies and dissensions for more than half a century, have existed between them, growing out of the claims of both to exercise certain rights under their several charters affecting the franchises and the jurisdiction of both city governments.

Whereas, The opinion has long been entertained by many citizens of New-York and Brooklyn, that the union of both cities, together with the village of Williamsburgh, under one city government, would effectually end all controversies between them, and tend most powerfully to promote the harmony and the best interests of all concerned. Therefore

Resolved, That the Senators from the 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, and 6th Senate districts, are hereby appointed a committee to consider the subject of a union of the cities of New-York and Brooklyn, and the village of Williamsburgh, under one city government, and that the said committee be instructed to report thereon to the Senate, at an early day of the next session of the Legislature.

A communication was received from the Lieutenant Governor in the words following, and by a unanimous vote of the Senate ordered to be entered in the journal :

DELAVER HOUSE, }
April 9th, 1850, }

To the Senate:

I have received from the clerk a copy of a resolution, purporting to have been unanimously passed, in which you express your approbation of the manner in which I have discharged the duties of the chair during the session now about to close.

It has been my intention to preside over your deliberations with impartiality, and with a proper regard to the promotion of the public business. That I have so far succeeded as to receive the assurance of your approbation is particularly gratifying.

Many questions have been discussed during the session, some of which are of great importance to the interests of the State, and the peace and happiness of the Republic; but it is gratifying to know that in matters of legislation, party lines have rarely been drawn, while many laws have been passed that will be a lasting benefit to the people, and an honor to the Legislature.

It is due to your able and efficient clerk to say, that his experience in legislation has rendered my duties comparatively light, and to him we are much indebted for the despatch of the business of the Senate.

It affords me great pleasure to say that my official, as well as personal intercourse with Senators has been of the most friendly chaacter, and to bear testimony to the fidelity with which every member and officer has discharged the duties of his station.

As our official relation has now terminated, and you are about to return to your respective homes to meet and mingle with warm-hearted and generous friends, let me indulge the hope that each of you will be greeted with the smile of approbation from an honest, patriotic and intelligent constituency, and that you will, by the blessing of providence, enjoy long life, health and happiness.

Very respectfully, your ob't servant,
GEORGE W. PATTERSON.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the Assembly, with a message informing that the Senate have passed the same with the amendments, therewith delivered.

A message from the Governor was received and read in the words following, to wit :

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, April 10, 1850. }

To the Senate:

I respectfully return to the Senate the bill entitled "An act to incorporate the Oswego dry dock and marine railway company," from which I am under the necessity of withholding my approval, for reasons similar to those which I had the honor to submit in connection with the bill to extend the charter of the Schoharie central bridge company,

The Legislature has enacted a general law authorizing the formation of corporations for manufacturing, mining, mechanical, or chemical purposes, (Laws of 1848, chapter forty, page fifty-four,) which embraces the general objects of the corporation proposed to be created by this bill.

While this general law remains in force, I cannot believe it competent for the Legislature to create by a special act a corporation for objects which may be attained under such laws. If I am mistaken in this opinion, I shall be happy to see a laudable enterprise undertaken under the direct sanction of the Legislature. But believing that the objects of the proposed corporation may be thus attained. I respectfully return the bill to the Senate.

HAMILTON FISH.

The question being whether the Senate would pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the Governor.

Mr. Mann moved said bill be laid on the table.

The President put the question whether the Senate would agree to said motion, and it was decided in the affirmative.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following, to wit:

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Albany, April 9, 1850. }

To the Senate :

I have this day approved and signed the following entitled bills to wit:

"An act authorizing the canal commissioners to build a bridge across the Erie canal at Genesee street, in the city of Buffalo."

"An act to authorize the Williamsport and Elmira rail road company incorporated by the State of Pennsylvania, to construct a portion of their road in this state."

"An act to amend an act passed April 9, 1850, entitled 'An act to authorize Edward Hubbard and Thomas J. Delancy of Cornwall, and Christopher B. Miller of the town of New Windsor, to establish and maintain a ferry across the Hudson river from the town of Cornwall in the county of Orange, to Cold Spring in the county of Putnam.'"

"An act to incorporate the Piermont and Dearman ferry company."

"An act to amend the act to provide for the publication of the reports of the court of appeals, passed April 11, 1848."

"An act to grant the use of a pier in the Cayuga lake to the Cayuga and Susquehannah railroad company."

"An act to authorize the Little Falls and Salisbury plank road company to mortgage their road as a security for a loan."

"An act to amend the charter of the city of Auburn."

"An act to amend an act to provide for the appointment of commissioners, to ascertain the compensation for taking private property for public use in the city of Troy, and to regulate the proceedings in taking such property for that purpose, passed April 6, 1849."

"An act to amend an act incorporating the village of Plattsburgh, passed April 26, 1831, and the act amendatory thereof, passed April 12, 1848."

"An act to give the right of the people of this State to the property of Amasa Kelson, deceased, in aid of the orphan asylum society of the city of Utica, and the association for colored orphans in the city of New York."

"An act to authorize the comptroller to suspend legal proceedings against the Hudson and Berkshire rail road company."

HAMILTON FISH.

Mr. Morgan, from the committee to wait on the Governor, reported that the committee had discharged the duty assigned to them, and that the Governor was pleased to say that he had no official communication to make.

On motion of Mr. Schoonmaker,

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate be presented to the several reporters, representatives of the public press, for the faithful and able manner in which they have discharged their several duties.

On motion of Mr. Snyder,

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate be presented to the Hon. James M. Cook, for the able and impartial manner in which he has discharged the duties of president pro tem. of the Senate.

The Senate directed said resolution to be entered in the journal.

A message was received from the Assembly, delivered by Mr. Ford and Mr. L. Ward Smith, informing that they are ready to adjourn.

The Senate then adjourned according to law.

APPENDIX.

PORTRAIT OF CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.

On the ninth day of April, the Clerk of the Senate presented the following report—which, on motion of Mr. Cross, was ordered to be entered on the Journal—and is here given as an appendix to the proceedings of that day :

The Clerk of the Senate respectfully reports, that on the second day of March, on motion of Hon. Mr. Babcock, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Senate, under the direction of the President, cause the portrait of Columbus, now in the ante-room, to be removed from its present unsafe position, and properly cleaned and hung in the Senate Chamber.

In conformity with the above, and under the direction of the President, the picture was taken from the room where it had for several years been exposed to the heat of the fire place, which had warped and injured it, and sent to Messrs. Williams & Stevens, of New York, for restoration and reframing. These gentlemen, who are distinguished in the metropolis for their good taste, knowledge and skill in the furniture and care of pictures, have executed the task allotted them with great fidelity. Without injury or changing the picture, the few places where, by ill-usage and time, the paint had fallen off, have been fitted—a frame of beauty and such as belongs to an old picture, has been given it—an inscription, appropriate, placed on it—and it is rendered worthy of its position, as one of the principal ornaments of the Senate Chamber.

The inscription is as follows :

COLUMBUS.

The gift of Maria Farmer to the Senate of New York, 1784.

A curious and interesting history attaches to this painting. The official record found on the Journals of the Senate of 1784, shows how it came in possession of the State.

The Journal of that year states—

A letter from Mrs. Maria Farmer, directed to his Honor the President, offering to the acceptance of the Senate an ancient portrait of the celebrated discoverer of America, Christopher Columbus, taken from an original painting 1592, and which had been in her family upwards of 150 years :

Resolved, That the Senate do accept, with grateful acknowledgments, the antient and valuable portrait offered by Mrs. Maria Farmer.

When the Capitol was removed from New York in 1797, this picture was left behind, and seems to have been forgotten, in the transfer of the seat of government; and it continued neglected, or abstracted, for many years.

In March 1827, the following entry appears on the Journal:

March 26, 1847.

On motion of Hon. John L. Veile,

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Senate cause the portrait of Christopher Columbus, presented to the Senate by Mrs. Maria Farmer, in 1784, to be removed from the city of N. Y., and put up in some suitable place in the Senate Chamber.

Mr. John F. Bacon, then the Clerk of the Senate, in compliance with the orders of this resolution, visited New York, and after considerable search, and through the assistance of the venerable Mr. Skaats, the keeper of the City Hall, found it in the garret of that building. He proved the property of the State in it, and brought it to Albany, when it was placed in the Senate Chamber, which then occupied the present area of the Cloak and Document Room of the Assembly. When the Senate Chamber was changed, the picture was hung over the fire-place, where it was rapidly going to ruin, when by the resolution of the honorable Senator from the 31st, it was rescued.

Maria Farmer, who gave this portrait to the Senate, was the direct descendant of Jacob Leisler. It appears evident that her family derived this picture from him, as her statement of its having been in the family over an hundred and fifty years, shows.

Leisler is described by Hoffman as the first and only political martyr that ever stained the soil of New-York with his blood. He was the Lieutenant-Governor of the Colony. When a family of Huguenots were about to be sold into redemption slavery for the price of their passage, he interposed and rescued them, and thus gave to New-York its Huguenot population, which has given to our history many names of worth. To this Leisler, the city of New-York owes its Battery ; but the State of New-York, in the value of the example he gave, owes him much more.

He headed the popular party during the struggles in the Colony concerning the House of Orange, and for so doing, as was then consistent with the spirit of the times—being a lover of freedom, and believing in popular rights—he was denounced as a rebel, and died on the scaffold ;—his example being one of the early seeds which, long maturing, yet in after days bore full fruit.

Leisler was a merchant also, and visited Europe, travelling all over its countries. He was a prisoner and met with various adventures. While abroad, he probably procured this portrait, as identified with the New World, where his fortunes were cast. By a singular incident, it has come to be a remembrance of him, which will probably always be associated with his name. The picture does not purport to be an original ; no such has ever been in existence. This accounts for the date, which is after the life of the great discoverer had closed.

The date of 1592 appears in the picture. This was the time when the portrait was made. It has the age of 23 marked on it. History shows that it was just at that age when Columbus made his first sea voyage—a young adventurer. In the back ground of the picture is portrayed the departure of a small vessel. The scene on shore is the grouping of a small seaport town.

The son of Columbus says there was no portrait ever taken of his father, but in describing what he was like, his description is almost identical with the features portrayed in this painting. Even at Genoa, the bust that is there, is made up from the description given by different authors.

The proofs of genuineness, and the facts of a curious and eventful history, cluster around this portrait, with a most interesting and valuable accuracy. Its lineage is far better supported than that of most pictures, presenting like claims, and every research made in respect to it has only confirmed its authenticity.

It seems most fitting that this portrait should at last, cared for and restored, be the ornament of the Senate Chamber of the State, where they first came who brought to the New World the industry, and enterprise, and virtues that belonged to the temperate regions of Europe. Nor is it less so, since, wherever there is a knowledge of correct history, one of our own native citizens has so intertwined his fame with that of the Great Discoverer, that there will henceforth be an enduring association between the names of Columbus and Irving.
